

Ginny,

To one of the sweetest and funniest girls I have ever known. Always stay as much fun as you are now and you will be showered with friends.

I'm so glad you received a letter from you know who..., and be good to him.

Don't forget the good times we have had in Journalism (remember "quack,

the Students of
New Hanover High School
Wilmington, North Carolina

Ann Hewlett, Editor

Carina McCall, Business Manager

Each fall the tide of school activities rushes in, bringing with it to New Hanover High School the sophomores from the various junior high schools. The following spring the tide ebbs, carrying with it the seniors, prepared to take their places in colleges or in the various phases of community life. Between these two tide extremes, a flood tide of juniors stabilizes school life.

When the tide rushes in, the wind causes the sands to shift. At the first of the year the exciting gridiron classics seem foremost in the minds of the students. This emphasis gives way to basketball in the winter and baseball in the spring. The shifting sand makes the sky seem cloudy and in the hectic days of exams the students of NHHS are much aware of this darkened sky. But when exams are over, the sky clears and they look forward to a new semester or a bookless summer on the beach where the sand, the sea, and the sky are truly the fashion.

The memories of school experience are valuable and the HANOVERIAN has recorded a review of people, places and activities hoping that in the far away years, whether sailing the high seas, flying to the moon, or resting contently on the sands of time, the graduates of NHHS will sometimes leaf through these pages and recall fondly the years spent at this school.

The staff presents the HANOVERIAN for 1958 with its theme: the sand, the sea, and the sky.

A small party on the sandy beach—a wiener roast, hamburger fry or picnic—will be remembered long after formulas, verbs, and historical dates are forgotten. The smell of hot dogs roasting over an open fire along with the tangy air of the sea in one's face makes an evening very pleasant, especially when a huge harvest moon comes up over the horizon to make the sea even more beautiful.

Such a picture brings to mind the actual fun of school life, the little incidents that make life amusing. On the next few pages, some events are recorded that would not be put in the class section nor the activities section. These little, seemingly insignificant happenings illustrate some of the typical school life. Also, a bevy of beauties selected by the student body for the May Court are pictured, and sixteen outstanding seniors are shown while on a picnic.

Dedication

The 1958 Hanoverian is dedicated to Miss Frances Westbrook. To students, past and present, Miss Westbrook is a beloved counselor and friend. She transports her pupils into the fascinating world of American Literature, and helps them with the mixed-up world of English grammar.

To the Hanoverian Staff she's a wonderful advisor. Working with the activities section for the last three years, Miss Westbrook can be heard urging her club staff to write more copy and get better pictures.

Thus, the 1958 Hanoverian salutes Miss Frances Westbrook, advisor, teacher, counselor, and friend.

The blackboard is a teacher's best friend.

MAY QUEEN

Marie Fales

MARIE FALES, May Queen

May Queen

"A pretty girl is like a melody
That haunts you night and day."

Marie Fales, a flawless blonde, reigns as Queen of the May. This outstanding girl's accomplishments are many. She has been in the May Court for two years as an attendant and is topping off her high school career with the title of May Queen. Also, she was chosen Battalion Sponsor of the ROTC and has been a member of the Valentine Court for two years. This attractive girl well deserves her many honors. New Hanover High School salutes its most beautiful girl.

Maid of Honor

"She walks in beauty, like the night."

Lord Byron never knew the Maid of Honor, Sue Trask, but he well describes her in those famous lines of his. Sue, a charming brunette with a fetching smile, has a happy-go-lucky attitude that endears her to all. Among her honors are 'C' Company ROTC Sponsor and three years in the May Court, including her election of Maid of Honor. This dusky beauty is certainly an asset to New Hanover High School.

May Court

From the many bathing beauties on the beach in the summer, it would be a difficult choice to pick out the ones who would be in the May Court that following autumn; but on these pages, New Hanover High School's most beautiful are displayed.

Dark-haired lovelies dominate the court, and the Maid of Honor is also a dusky brunette. The Queen of the May is a golden blonde, and she reigns with regal splendor over her subjects.

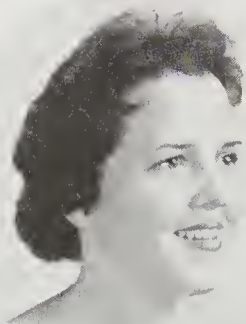

Senior attendant Betty Jean Butler has been active throughout her high school days in various offices such as homeroom chairman and homeroom representative. Though a newcomer this year, Connie Farthing has already proved herself to be outstanding by being chosen as a Student Court Judge and sponsor for Company "D".

Jane and Jean are famous as the Hardy twins and were in the May Court as sophomores. Jane is now Secretary of the Junior Class, and Jean represented the Juniors in the Valentine Court.

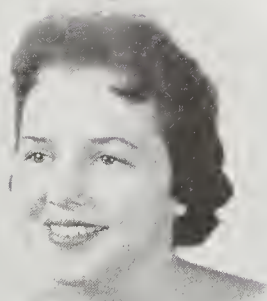

The two sophomore attendants, Jane Malpass and Rose Potter, are a welcome addition to NHHS's student body. Besides election to the May Court, they both hold Sophomore Class offices, Jane as Vice-President and Rose as Senator.

The May Court, therefore, is composed of girls who are not only beautiful but outstanding in school life as well.

BEST LOOKING

The students who are tops in the senior class of New Hanover High School enjoy beach parties as much or more than anyone else.

When the destination is reached, Marie Fales and Howard Knox are the first to walk out to the end of the pier and gaze at the lovely ocean.

MOST ATHLETIC

Though leapfrog is not included in the regular school sports curriculum, Amelia Russell and Roman Gabriel must keep in trim, and so they enjoy a short game before eating.

BEST ALL AROUND

At the close of the party, Keena McCall and Jack Mathis reflect on the good time they have had at the beach and during their school days, and they resolve to carry their versatile personalities with them into their future lives.

There was a little girl who had a little tassel hanging on her forehead.

Student Life

The uppermost aim in the high school career is the receiving of the diploma, and, throughout the year, the objectives of all classes are to achieve that goal. However, this does not halt the knitting of many close friendships.

Some students who were either from foreign lands or direct descendants of immigrants are made very welcome at New Hanover High School, and they easily fit into the All-American routine of school life.

Student Life

The weather of the tropics and that of the arctic are received alike as three pretty misses lift their skirts to go wading and others fight it out with good, cold snow-balls. Another does not worry with the weather but stays inside to delight in the aroma of French-fried potatoes and the cool taste of a soft drink.

The park, newly developed through co-operation of the Student Congress, the school, and the city, is very popular with all students. For studying, gossiping, or simply enjoying oneself, the park is the place to go. Romance thrives, but one finds time for hen-parties or bull sessions, anyway.

Gone, men, gone!

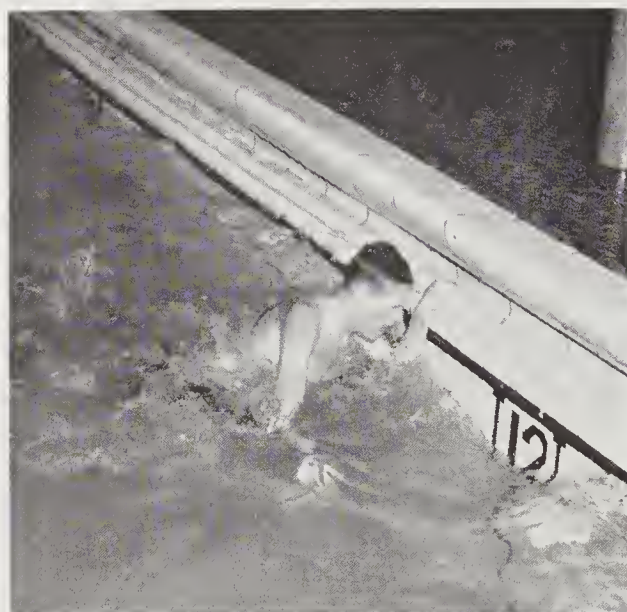

The male population—Happy-go-lucky.

The flu-bug will get you if you don't watch out!

Is there a lifeguard in the house?

Student Life

Sports play a big part in the life of the students. All agree that all work and no play can be dull. Whether the game be basketball, swimming, tennis, or football, the New Hanover High School population is full of careful players and earnest spectators to enjoy these sports. The Cheerleaders, who add pep to any sports event, do their best to encourage exuberant school spirits, even though the flu virus did its best to slow things down.

Nothing lasts forever, and when the flu had made its rounds, the sports fans came back to school more enthusiastic than before. It was generally agreed among all students that nothing so simple as Asian flu could weaken their interest in sports.

Yea Wildcats!

Student Life

While some goof-balls joke over golf, the sports editor takes time out to loaf. Other athletic minded boys and girls take their games more seriously, but no one minds an occasional prank or trick. Though the fans may not always be in sight, they flock to sports events as ants flock to sugar, enjoying every precious minute.

Not all students care to participate in organized sports, but those who do derive great benefits from their games. Those who prefer to watch enjoy keeping up with their favorite players and are sure to attend every game.

Girls take advantage of excellent opportunities to participate in sports such as volleyball, basketball, and tennis. This helps to weld NHHS into a sports-conscious school.

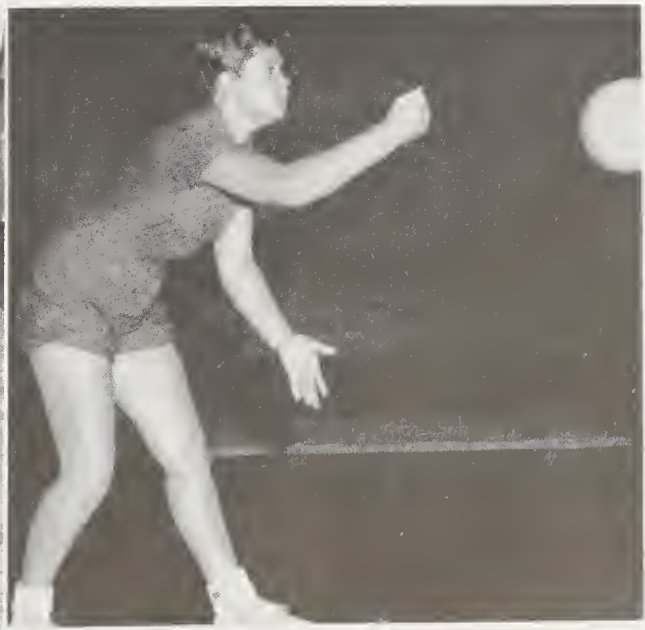

Trusting soul.

Youth is a dreamer.

Student Life

Not all student life is spent playing. Much hard work is put into the mastery of the many fields of learning offered at one of North Carolina's foremost schools. The struggle to attain knowledge does not leave out humor, however. Some students find that fifth period is just too long until lunch, and some refreshments (on the sly) are provided.

Others are inclined to find humor in the classroom, but this usually proves to be an unfortunate habit when report cards are issued. Sad experience finally teaches most students that a sober mind is an asset in any class.

Student Life

The Student Union, the pride of the school, is useful as a snack bar and TV lounge, but on certain Saturday nights, it is transformed into a ballroom supreme. Lovely young ladies in their prettiest dresses dance to music that rocks or glides. Many of the well-attended dances honor some of the school's beauties, such as the May Dance. The Junior-Senior and the Football Finals Dance are also held here beneath multicolored lights and attractive decorations. Thus the Student Union is certainly a room of many purposes.

Student Life

On these pages is a cross section of high school life. Many teenagers find happiness in togetherness, but the new sophomores get all twisted up in the vastly different school routine and feel quite alone.

The latest style, the crew-neck sweater, dominates the fashion world for boys and girls alike. Borrowed from the Ivy League, the crew-neck is neat and very warm during the cold winter days.

The Crew-neck craze.

The big fisherman.

Typical of many high school students, the fisherman is thrilled with his plentiful catch. The fish-biting season extends deep into fall, and teachers and pupils alike enjoy this outdoor sport.

A little actress diligently studies her script so that the glare on the directors' face will not be for her. The audiences as well as the performers enjoy this extra-curricular part of school life.

Time out for Ginger to study her lines.

What is this madness?

Student Life

The New Hanover High School ROTC, the only high school ROTC in the Carolinas, elects a pretty girl to march with each company. However, the young ladies rarely know the facts about arms and other military subjects. But the sponsors do make a nice picture as they perform with the cadets.

Drinks for the crowd.

New Hanover not only boasts many lovely lasses, but also many handsome young men. What girl would mind seeing this coming out of the sea?

Mr. America.

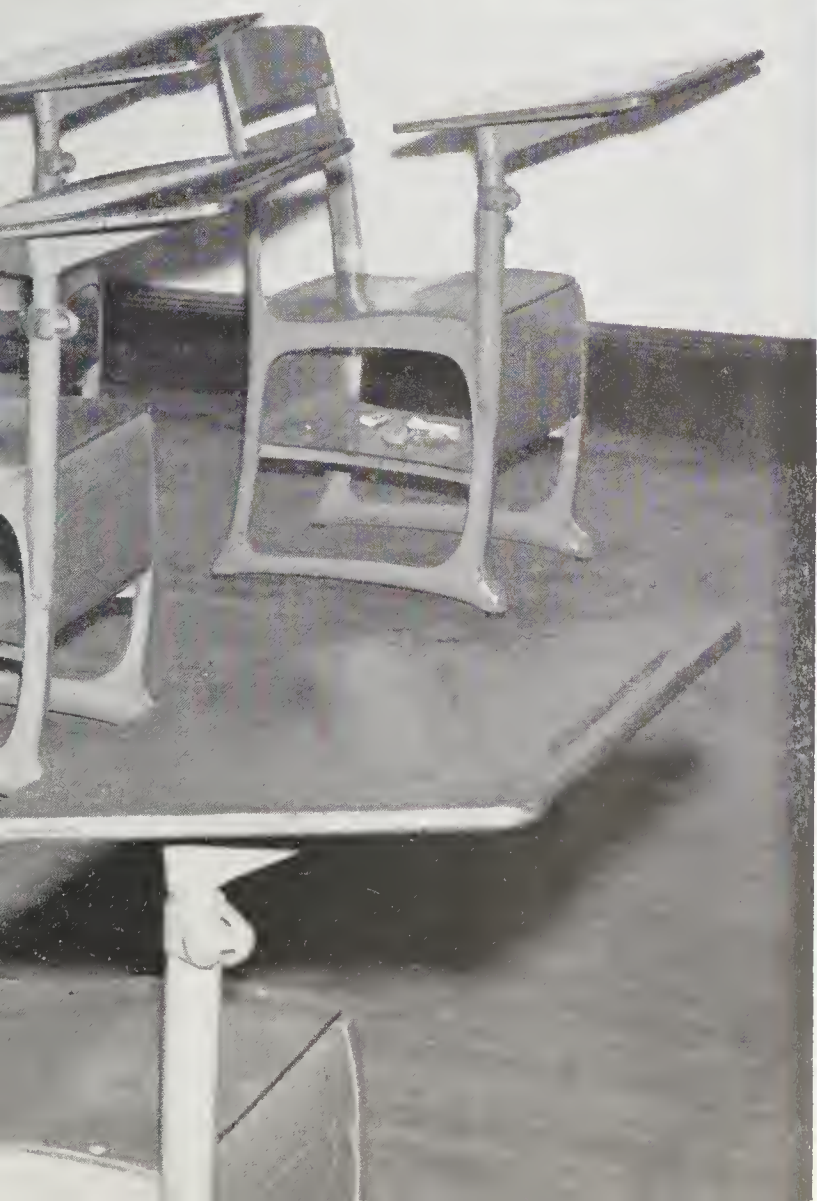

In keeping with the sand and sea theme of the yearbook, many pictures were taken at the beaches in the Wilmington area. On one of these trips, Mr. McCall, Hanoverian advisor, was snapped buying drinks for the crowd.

At last, we rate rings.

A happy day is the one on which the Juniors receive the traditional class rings. Soon, the privilege of the Senior Steps will be theirs, and they will be upper-classmen supreme.

As a student sits at his desk in a classroom, his thoughts often wander out of the doors of school and back in time to the carefree summer activities which were so enjoyable. Perhaps that last day on the beach is one that memory has returned, or maybe a period of time in midsummer that cannot be forgotten is the thought that is interrupting the very important study of English literature.

Whatever the day-dream is, the fault is one in which all pupils, however studious, indulge. Throughout the school year, the scholars take little snips of time from their studies to think back on pleasant times of the past, but they soon return to deep thought and concentration on the subject matter. All realize that only through hard work will the aim, graduation, be achieved.

On the next pages are found these scholars, known collectively as the

Classes

The Senior Class officers with the big catch are Keena McCall, Secretary; Mary Lou Johnson, Vice-President; and Jimmy Sloan, President.

Seniors

For the Class of '58 graduation is no longer a dream, but a reality. Seniors will never hear the banging lockers, the band as it practices, or the voices of the choirs; but they will always be able to remember their three wonderful years in high school.

These seniors entered NHHS as true sophomores three years ago, baffled by program cards, the "up" and "down" steps, and the individual report cards. Under the guiding hands of upper classmen and of capable teachers they took their places in NHHS.

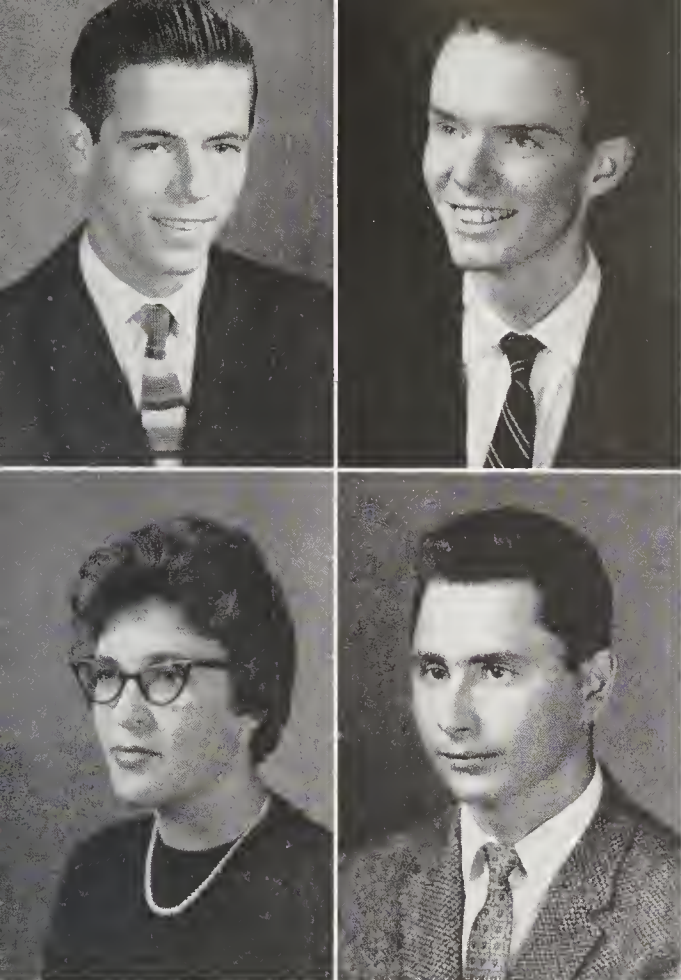

As juniors they grew more sure of themselves. They cheered the teams on to victory, honored the graduating seniors with the fantasy of the Junior-Senior, presented the class play, and received those long-awaited class rings.

As seniors they stepped first onto the bottom step of the Senior Steps, willing to work their way to the top. Then invitations were ordered, research papers were revised, and final examinations were taken. They signed annuals, saw their last play, and attended their last beach party as high school students. Seniors looked to the future and made application to colleges or prepared for future jobs.

Their hearts will always beat faster when they hear the alma mater, catch a glimpse of old friends, or see certain places that form an unbreakable link in the chain of high school memories.

The seniors leave by way of the Senior Steps, not as the shy, uncertain sophomores they were, but as more mature seniors looking into the future with more developed minds and eyes turned to the future in the new world they are to discover. They will be better able—because of their three years at New Hanover High School—to cope with the shifting sands, the cloudy skies, and the raging seas of an inviting, though mystifying, future.

Juniors

No longer are they shy and doubtful. Their first year as underclassmen is over. Traffic regulations and school customs cease to be a puzzle. Confidently, they settle down to work.

The juniors add an abundance of memorable experiences to memories of the past and to dreams for the future. They gaily advance toward their ultimate goal — graduation — gaining the reputation of the most carefree class of all.

During the fall juniors may be overheard discussing their choice of class rings. Many students choose blue stones, while others think red or black is more appropriate. No matter what the color, every class ring is proudly received.

The students study faithfully, enjoy life to the fullest, and visit the beach, their year-around playground, often. Even when a cold winter discourages swimming in the sea, the seaside remains the ideal place for a weiner-roast or a bonfire gathering.

An unexpected February snowfall brings excitement and thrills to NHHS. Undying school spirit and successes in every field add to the juniors' enjoyment. National Honor Society members are tapped from the most intelligent and honorable members of the junior class. Student Congress and Student Body officers are chosen, and athletic juniors spur the school's teams to victory.

Ambitious juniors diligently aim to set good examples for the sophomores following in their footsteps. At the same time they strive to pattern their lives after the more experienced seniors above them and to best prepare themselves for the life that faces them after graduation.

Amid studies, examinations, staging the comedy-fantasy Green Valley, and secretly planning for an exotic Junior-Senior Prom, dreams of sand, sea, and sky are ever-present.

At last class rings are theirs, and the senior steps are almost within their reach. Approaching their final year in high school, the juniors prepare for an exciting summer on the beach. Only a few months of sunshine, sand, and sea lie between them and that long-awaited senior year.

Eying the Senior Steps

Arriving for a big catch are: Pat Moore, Secretary; Jerry Spivey, President; Jane Malpass, Vice-President.

Sophomores

New Hanover High School opens its doors to the 1957-1958 sophomores, who proudly form the largest class ever to enter. After an inspiring orientation program, they go to their scheduled classes feeling that they are a part of the student body. These students seem very shy as they are introduced to the principal and faculty, the variety of clubs, and the efficient student government of the largest high school in North Carolina. Some dutifully become acquainted with Julius Caesar and Silas Marner while others take their first glimpse of a cat's internal organs or the structure of a frog. Those making odd sounds are trying to master a foreign language. The boys proudly don their new ROTC uniforms and feel its significance ever-so-much! New worlds of senior high school mathematics, music, art, drama, social science, physical education, Bible, commercial arts, trades and industrial education, and distributive education are unveiled to everyone.

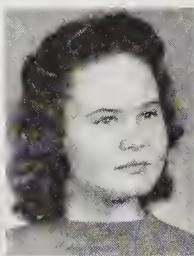

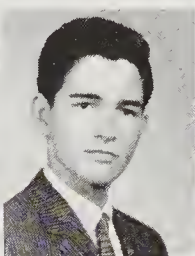

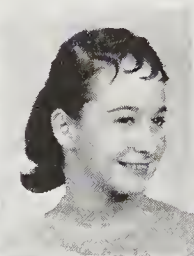

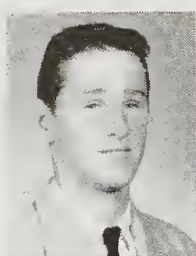

This is the year that many reach that long awaited age, sixteen at last! This means receiving that anticipated treasure which allows them to operate their own cars—a driver's license. To ball games, club meetings, school plays, and spring beach parties they now go — serving as their own chauffeurs. Participating in elections, struggling through exams, admiring the notorious Senior Steps, and dreaming of a bookless sand and sea help to complete the school days of these new-comers. These sophomores take much pride in helping to make NHHS a better place. Realizing their responsibilities of keeping it the school that it now is, they do their assigned work to the best of their ability and try to uphold the standards of the school.

Welcome, class of '60, to the school on North Carolina's southeastern coast — in the land where the sand, the sea, and the sky reign majestically over all.

THE CLASS SENATORS

The Junior Senators take advantage of their favorite playground by the sea. They are Harriet Cole, Micky Croom, Sally Christmas, Molly Cooper, Kay Bishop, and Nancy Minton.

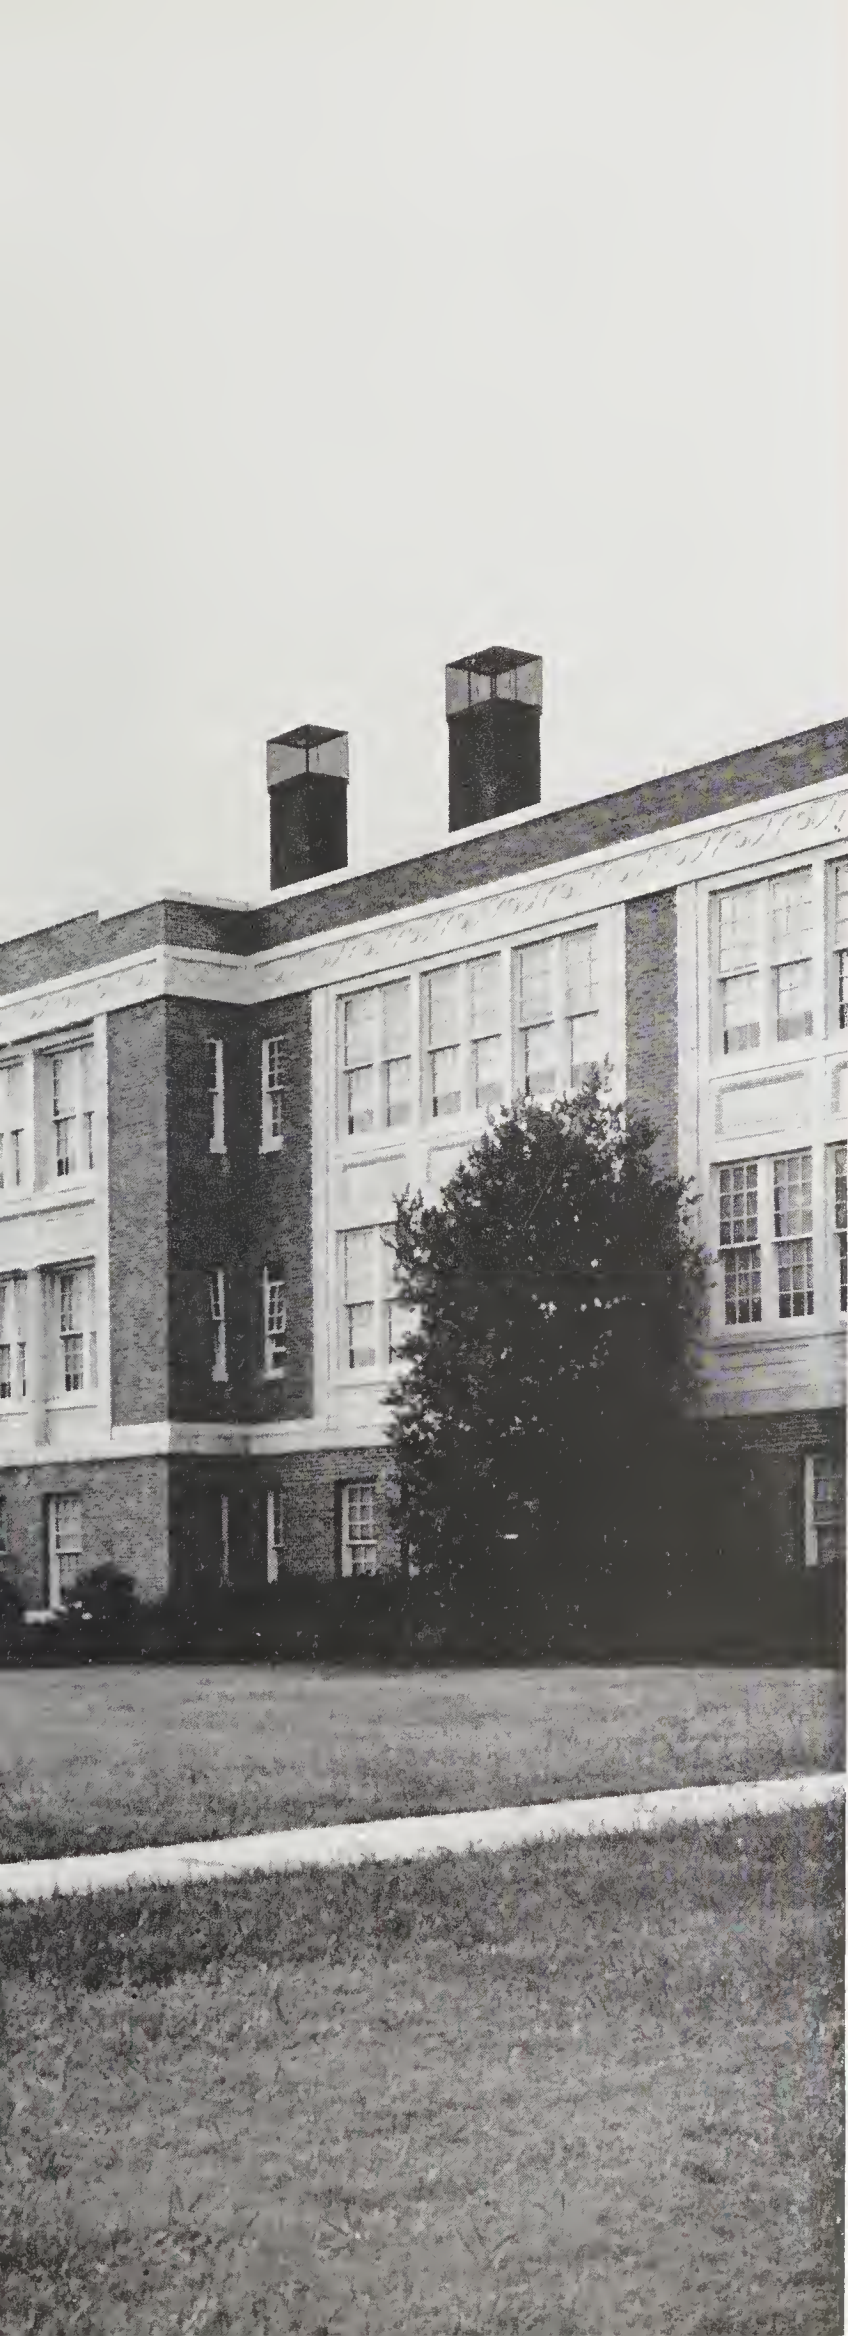

The Senior Senators — James McIntosh, Linda Kelly, Sabra Brew, Billy Edwards, and Paul Butler — relax in the sand, the sea, and the sky.

The Sophomore Senators take a break from their first year of Student Government to enjoy the seaside. They are standing, Dewey Weeks, Linda Sue Peterson, Judy Teague; kneeling, Lise Knox, Betty Beery, Rose Potter.

Gunny,
Remember all the (Words and music by Emerson Head, Class of 1953)

To thee we sing our praises,
Dear New Hanover High,
With pride we see your glory;
Your fame will never die.
We'll keep your colors flying
And give our loyalty,
Your motto we will cherish
Our strength lies in unity.

While Orange and Black waves o'er us
Into the winds of time,
We'll proudly raise our voices
In this our song sublime.
Forever we'll remember
These halls we'll glorify
The years will find us loyal
To you, New Hanover High.

Faculty

Dale K. Spencer

The efficient principal, Dale K. Spencer, has the final word in all our undertakings.

Administration

Through their interest in the individual student and the welfare of our school as a whole, our principal and assistant principal have become respected by all. These two men tirelessly and unselfishly work for the betterment of our school. They are not merely administrators, but are also participants in our school routine. The success of eighteen hundred students could not be in better hands than those of Mr. Spencer and Mr. Gurganus.

Try and picture New Hanover High School without its capable office staff; Mrs. Lane, Dean of Girls, and Mr. Capps, Dean of Boys, are always willing to lend a helping hand with individual problems. Miss Montgomery, our registrar, is a storehouse of knowledge of all office matters. The information desk without Mrs. Jones or Mr. Spencer's outer office without Miss Smith would be a different place entirely. Whether it be selling train tickets to an out-of-town football game or just a friendly smile, Mrs. Holland can be depended upon.

The English department of New Hanover High is careful to give its students a good foundation in this very important subject. The pupils are thoroughly grounded in the fundamentals of grammar through drill and exercise.

The works of great writers of the past and present, from foreign lands and America, are presented in such a way that they come alive for the students. Thus, while still in high school, the youth of Wilmington learn to appreciate good literature and to enjoy reading the works of great authors.

The students are taught how to express their thoughts on paper. Through the writing of themes, plays, and short stories, every pupil has an opportunity to record these thoughts.

Great poems of the world become a part of each student as he memorizes verses of many different poets. Book reviews, projects, and lessons in appreciation of the great poets and authors of the old and new world help create a well-rounded person who will be ready to take his place in the outside world upon graduation.

Dramatics and speech arts are included within the English department and the students in these classes engage in many separate activities. For weeks before a play is presented these pupils are busily constructing scenery and collecting properties. When a play is brought to a successful conclusion, however, the dramatics classes have the reward of a job well done.

Decorative bulletin boards heighten student interest in English.

Foreign Languages

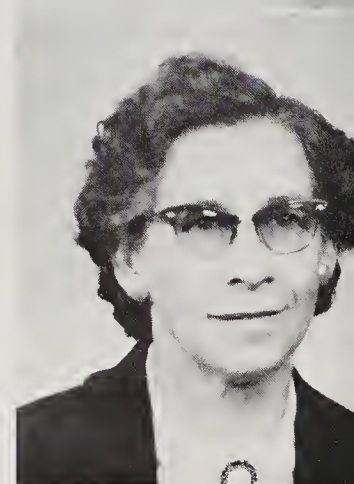

Make believe travels cover the globe in the foreign language classes. The ancient Roman Empire, Spain and Latin America, and France are the countries which are visited. Caesar, Napoleon, DeSoto — men of by-gone years — step into the present world and live for the diligent pupil who learns his lessons well.

Memorizing vocabularies and writing exercises are not exactly pleasant tasks; but the rewards are truly great — a knowledge and understanding of a people other than one's own, and the ability to interpret their language.

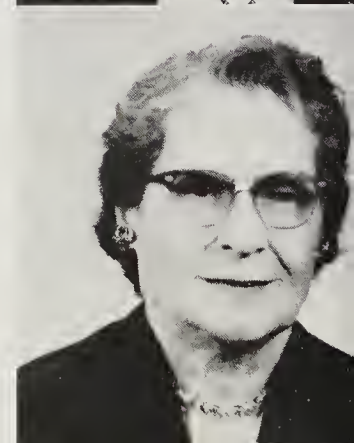

The ability to speak and understand a foreign language will greatly enhance chances for future jobs.

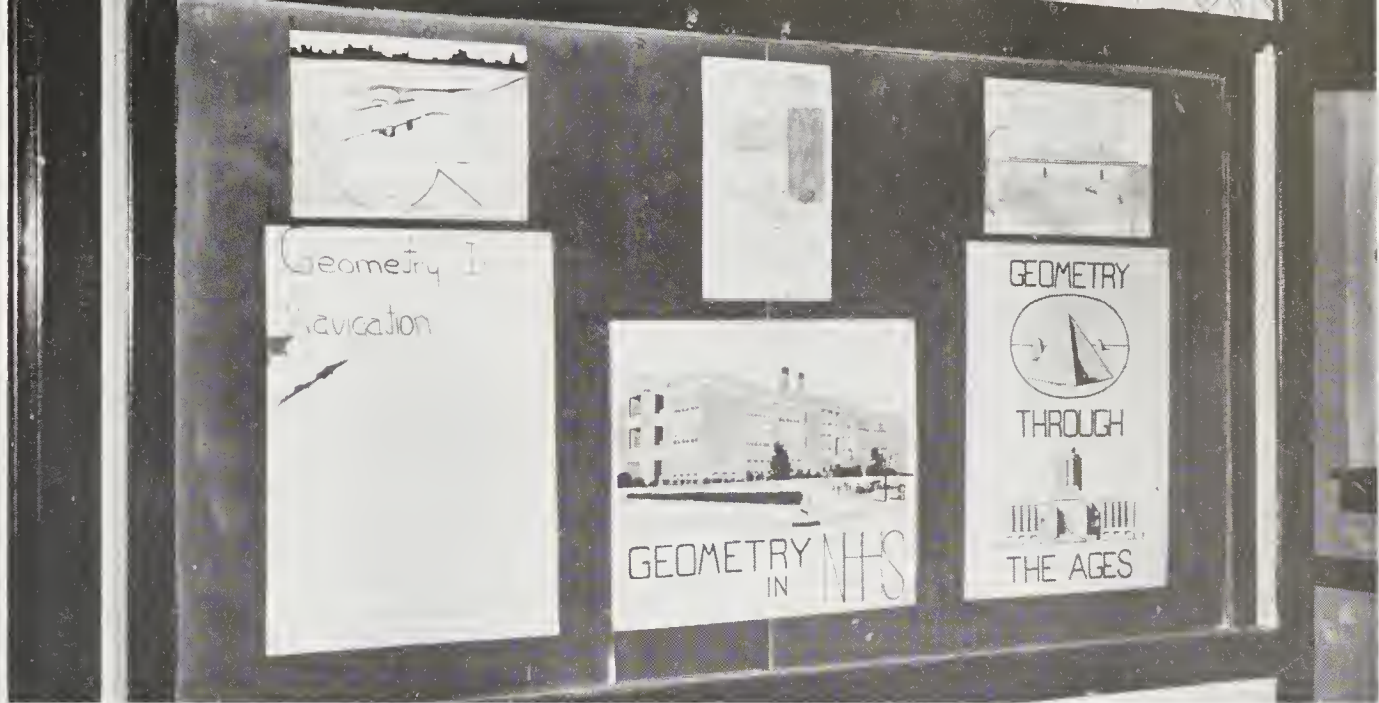

Relationships with other countries should become more peaceful as the language barrier is gradually overcome. Only by becoming well versed in the languages of other lands is this possible.

Stunning geometry projects illustrate that the students' ability is not only present in the field of math, but art, too.

Mathematics

Because of the competence of the instructors, the young mathematicians achieve proficiency in algebra and plane geometry. Through projects and other supplementary activities, math is proved to be no dry, dull subject.

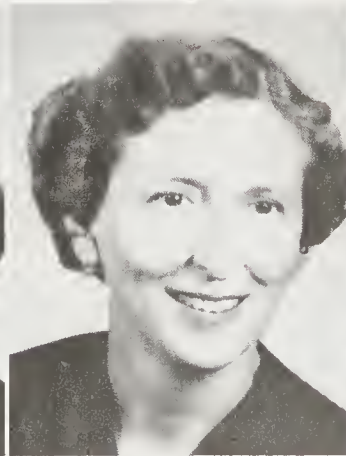

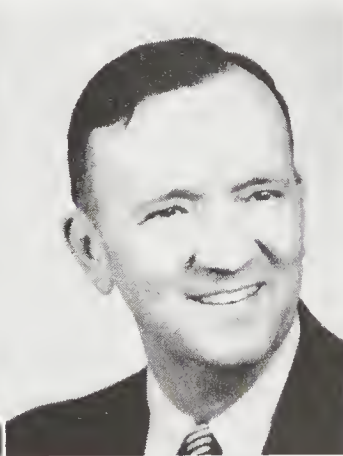

For students who possess a desire and use for the higher maths, many broad paths of learning are opened.

Social Studies

From the birth of the nation up to the present world leadership of the United States, the history and government classes pore over the facts that made our nation great. Washington, Jefferson, Franklin, and many more famous Americans live again in the eyes of students who are eager for further knowledge about our founding fathers. An extensive study of the actual construction of the federal, state, county, and city governments is made. The highlight of the year is an election of city and county officials from the student body. The candidates who are chosen serve for one day in city and county offices. Throughout the year student panels, attractive bulletin boards, interesting magazines, and movies broaden the students' interest in national and international affairs.

The mysterious world of the atom becomes the world of the chemistry student as he enters the lab. Compounds, elements, and formulas are a part of his vocabulary.

Every biology pupil must know and understand the anatomy of the earthworm, grass-hopper, and crayfish. For those especially interested, advanced biology offers further knowledge of the plant and animal kingdoms.

The physics department encourages young engineers with studies of heat, light, motion, and force. These students learn the basic laws of the universe.

Long hours of work will pay off well in the future.

Trade Industry and Agriculture

In the Trade, Industry, and Agriculture Department, students study the field of work which they will enter after graduation. Mechanical drawing and shop math seem very complicated to an outsider, but those who are on the inside with these subjects eventually master them.

Agriculturists, carpenters, metalworkers and machinists are trained for the future.

Some students travel out to Bluethenthal Airport to study aeronautics. The whole department contributes much to its students by training them in their chosen vocations.

Library

For rushing students, the library provides many hours of restful pleasure in the land of literature. The books are carefully chosen so that varied interests may be satisfied. Senior English students spend many hours taking advantage of its recesses for help in composing research themes. Study hall is conveniently held here. This enables students to pursue any subject during free periods.

Each morning during homeroom period the library is crowded with students seeking information in various fields. Here there is material along every imaginable line. It is a haven for the most difficult studying and the most peaceful relaxation.

Working on attractive displays and presenting inspiring morning devotions calls attention to devoted Bible students.

Not ordinary textbooks, but the Bible, is the guide for this study. Unbiased religious discussions heighten interest. This department accomplishes many worthy deeds through helpful projects. Understanding the most important things in life is the ultimate aim. This greatly anticipated hour (the period of Bible study) is an enjoyable one, and rightly so, because this is a subject which affects everyone.

Music

The New Hanover High School Band meets second period every morning and, under the guiding hand of Dr. Bouknight, practices earnestly in order to maintain the standard of excellence set by the band members who came before. Always on top in district and state contests, the band has also received honors through the fine showing that soloists and small groups within the band have made.

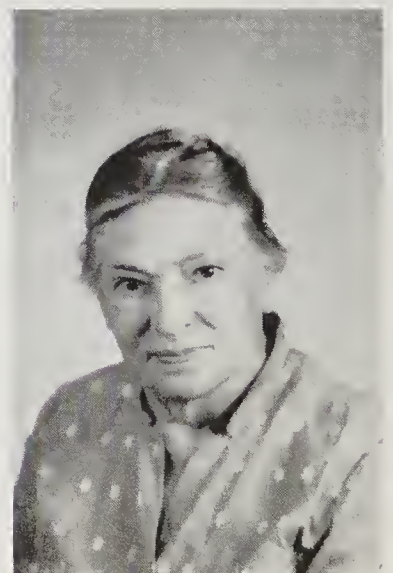

In the vocal music department, the young singers and their popular director are always ready with a song for the enjoyment of all. The Hanover Singers, the select choral group, can be heard practicing anything from Bach to Waring. The Mixed Chorus and two Girls' Glee Clubs make up the rest of the largest vocal music department in the state.

Art

In the art department, many talented students take advantage of the materials provided for them. Multi-colored supplies are transformed into beautiful pictures, attractive arrangements, and other related subjects are offered, such as the construction of papier mache masks. The natural ability of gifted students is often first recognized, encouraged, and furthered here. The Art Department members contribute much to the school in the way of posters, signs, and decorations for special events.

Home Economics

Through lessons in cooking, sewing, good grooming, and child care, the girls who take home economics are trained as the homemakers of tomorrow. The arts of the most important career a woman can follow are learned through active class work in the Home Economics Department. A few burned cookies, several pricked fingers, and soiled aprons do not discourage these hardy workers. Observing children in the school nursery helps students to understand that the little ones are not monsters, but very charming human beings. By showing off their skills to the worst critics, mothers, the girls find they are well-suited to keep a good home.

Future homemakers prepare for that all-important career.

Business

The chattering of typewriters, the scratching of many pencils on shorthand pads, and the steady click of mimeograph machines make up the song of the business department. Filing and bookkeeping are hard at first, but steady work increases skills. Office practice acquaints the students with the system of the business world which they enter after graduation. Neatness and efficiency are stressed, and dependability is valued greatly. Working closely with the Future Business Leaders of America, the pupils strive long and hard to perfect their skills. Though some will attend business college while others will go straight to work, the aim of all is to reach the top rung of the ladder of success.

Diversified Occupations

The Diversified Occupations students choose their jobs from a great variety of opportunities. The hospital, various offices, repair shops, and garages are only a few of the establishments which offer students a chance to learn a trade which will be useful to them after their high school days. As credit toward graduation is given all D. O. students, the diversified occupations program is ideal for any pupil who desires to learn a trade and gain experience by on-the-job training. Their classroom training is not neglected while they are learning their trades.

Staff

Mr. Sullivan and his capable assistants are a necessity at New Hanover High School. Sweeping and dusting, a few of their many duties involved in keeping the school clean, are handled well. Clean halls and neat classrooms make the students' lives more pleasant. Broken windows, burned out bulbs, and leaking faucets are quickly remedied. For those careless pupils who lock themselves out of their lockers, Jackson, the janitor, is a life-saver. He breaks or files off the locks. A salute is appropriate for these hard workers, without whom the school could not do.

Mr. Leon E. Sullivan, Custodian, performs one of his endless tasks.

Always ready to keep the school up to its high standards are these faithful employees.

The cafeteria and student union are under the direction of Mrs. Lodor, an experienced dietitian. Her helpers prepare only the most appetizing and attractive foods. Though all meals are directed toward a well-balanced diet, the cafeteria offers soft drinks and candy for those with a sweet tooth.

Also concerned with public health is Mrs. Brinson, the school nurse. Always ready with a kind smile and a potion to make one well, Mrs. Brinson is the kind of lady whom all run to in event of sickness or injury.

An assistant helps Mrs. Barclay Lodor, Dietitian.

Mrs. Zylphia D. Brinson, School Nurse, is the curer of all ills.

Whether they are writing stories for the WILDCAT, taking pictures for the HANOVERIAN, or participating in a band concert, the students of New Hanover High nevertheless dream of the summer fun on a sandy beach. Lessons, dramatic presentations, and artistic endeavors must take the place of swimming and skiing, but what is gone is not necessarily forgotten. Through the whirlwind of various club activities, student congress elections, and the publication of the handbook and the telephone directory, the arrival of warm weather is eagerly anticipated. The coming of spring is celebrated by beach parties sponsored by several of the clubs.

In the following section, the staff of the HANOVERIAN has presented a pictorial and written review of the extra things that comprise the school year. These things are important to many students in the school, and so it is to them that the following section is dedicated. The title is branch of our Student Congress. He is also responsible for a devotional at each cabinet meeting. Our Veep served as President of the Sophomore Class, and this year he was elected to be the Vice-President of our Student Body.

Working closely with the President and Vice-President as their business secretary is Angela Johnson, our Secretary of the Student Congress. She is responsible for carrying on all correspondence with other schools. Our Secretary's political career in high school started when she was a Sophomore Senator. Last year she was the Secretary of the Junior Class, and anyone will assure you that she did her job well.

Student Government

Fostering a true democratic spirit, promoting closer student-faculty cooperation, and creating a more effective plan of student government are the purposes of the Student Government of New Hanover High School.

Our Student Congress is composed of the Executive Council, the Senate, the House of Representatives, the Judges, the Judicial Marshals, the Co-ordinating Committee, and the Social Marshals.

The members of the Executive Council, led by the Student Body President, act as an advisory board to the Student Congress. Before a bill may be passed to either the House or Senate, it must receive the approval of the Co-ordinating Committee.

The Senate originates finance legislation and formulates bills. Six members from each class and the class presidents make up this branch of our government. Each homeroom elects a representative to the House. Cooperating with the Senate, these students originate all bills necessary for the general welfare of the Student Body except those pertaining to finance.

It is the duty of the Judiciary Branch, which is composed of the Judges and Judicial Marshals, to try all members of the Student Body who violate the school laws.

The person chosen to lead these important branches must be capable, assiduous, and devoted to his task; therefore, Jack Mathis, as President of the Student Government, has filled his position well. Our President got his start in high school politics in the tenth grade as a Homeroom Representative. The following year he was the President of the Junior Class.

John Scotton, our busy Vice-President, presides over the House of Representatives, a very important

Coordinating Committee

The Coordinating Committee has many important decisions to make. When a bill comes before the House or Senate, this committee has to decide if the item is important enough to be considered by the other branch. Two members from the House and Senate, plus a fifth member chosen from the Student Body, make up the Coordinating Committee.

Reviewing and advising proposed bills . . .

Executive Committee

The Executive Committee meets every week and acts as an advisory board to our Student Congress. Mrs. Estelle LeGwin and Miss Lena Taylor guide the discussions of the acts and bills that have come up before the House and Senate. The committee is headed by the President of the Student Body; working with him are the Vice-President, the Secretary of the Student Body, the Chairman of the Coordinating Committee, the President of the Senate, and various other cabinet members.

Seated: Mrs. Estelle LeGwin, John Scotton, Jack Mathis, Angela Johnson, Miss Lena Taylor.

Senate

Membership of the Senate consists of six members of each class and the Presidents of these classes. The Senate meets each week and discusses items concerning the welfare of our school.

At the first meeting of the Senate, the group elects its own presiding officer, the President of the Senate, who is Eddie West. Other Senate officers are the Ecclesiastic, the Secretary, the Parliamentarian, and the Sergeant-at-Arms. All of these officers are under the capable guidance of Mrs. Estelle LeGwin.

Only the Senate has the power to originate finance bills, and these bills are then sent to the House for its approval. Some of the money bills that arise provide funds for new Student Congress equipment, flowers for a death in a student's family, cards for students who are absent from school for a certain length of time, and money for new shrubbery and flowers on our school campus.

Seated: Eddie West, Sabra Brew.

House of Representatives

The House of Representatives is composed of a representative from each homeroom, the Vice-President of each class, and the Vice-President of the Student Body. John Scotton, Vice-President of the Student Body, serves as speaker of the House.

The House originates all bills concerning the welfare of our school, with the exception of the finance bills. The following standing committees exist in the House and are appointed by the Vice-President of the Student Body: Traffic Committee, Grounds Committee, Welfare Committee, Judiciary Committee, Clubs Committee, Social Committee, Student Union Committee, and Hospitality Committee.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives is responsible for compiling the minutes of the meeting and issuing them to each homeroom. The Homeroom Representative then reads and explains to the class exactly what actions our Student Congress took on various matters.

Seated: Mary Marshall, Anne Fountain.

Standing: John Scotton, Leon Brogden, Miss Taylor, advisor.

Reproving violators and

Judges

The judicial power of the New Hanover High School Student Congress rests in a Student Court, which consists of three seniors, two juniors, and one sophomore. These Judges are elected during a joint session of the House of Representatives and Senate.

The Judges try all violators who are brought in by the Judicial Marshals for breaking any of our school's laws. The Judges also have the power to try members of the Student Congress and to impeach only members of the Senate.

The Student Court has the power to interpret and enforce all laws made by the Legislative Department of New Hanover High School and to interpret the Constitution of the Student Congress.

The Court elects from its Senior members a Chief Justice, who acts as the chairman when the Court is in session. He has no voting power except in case of a tie.

Mr. Daniel Todd, faculty advisor, assists Eugene Tickner, Chief Judge, in presiding over the Court; and when the Judge is absent, Connie Farthing, Assistant-Chief Judge, takes over. After a hearing, the Judges retire to make their decision. When they return, the Clerk, Cynthia Stokley, gives the Judges' decision to the Chief Judge, who passes it on to the defendant.

A simple majority vote of the Court constitutes a conviction for the breaking of any Student Congress rule. If convicted, the defendant's punishment may possibly be a week of eighths and ninths. This form of student government enables the graduating high school student to better understand our system of Federal government.

Seated: Gene Tickner.

Standing: Cynthia Stokley, Connie Farthing, Frank LeRay, Edgar Garrabrant, Helen Taylor.

First row: Louisa Otersen, Lynn Roberts, Mary Ann Ittner, Jane Bond, Lola Stiles, Lynn Bixler, Mary Margaret Ginn, Ann Metts, Jean Lounsbury.

Judicial Marshals

Under the supervision of the Student Court, the Judicial Marshals enforce the rules and laws of the Student Body. The Marshals are chosen by the Chief Marshal, Richard Oates, and by the Judiciary Committees of the House and the Senate. The Chief Marshal also acts as Prosecuting Attorney for the Student Court. The Assistant Chief Marshal, Neill Hines, helps the Chief Marshal in the assigning of posts. The Marshals' main job is to keep traffic in order on our campus and in our school building. Violators of the traffic rules are issued a ticket which demands their presence at the next Student Court. If defendants are found guilty, they are sentenced to eighth or ninth periods to be served before the next court convenes.

This essential group is under the capable direction of Mr. Daniel Todd.

Marshal Nancy Stovall marshals the stairs between classes to see that no one goes the wrong way.

Aboundeth here much grace

Elected at a joint meeting of the House of Representatives and the Senate, the students chosen as Social Marshals step into an important role in our school life. These Social Marshals, advised by Miss Jeanne Grana, attend all social activities of our school. Collecting tickets, distributing programs, and ushering are some of their responsibilities. The annual May Dance, which is eagerly awaited by each student, is one of the main events sponsored by the Social Marshals. Excitement is at its height when the May Queen and her court are presented to the student body present at the dance.

In December of every year, the Social Marshals decorate a large Christmas tree, which is placed in the lobby of our school. Staying after school one afternoon, the Marshals adorn a beautiful tree which the students enjoy. A tree is also set up in the Student Union, and the Secretary of the Student Union assists the Marshals in putting up this tree.

At the first Parent-Student-Teacher meeting of the school year, the Social Marshals assist the parents in locating the classrooms of their sons and daughters; they also help to serve the refreshments after the PSTA meeting. On Orientation Day the new students are served refreshments in the Student Union, and again the Social Marshals are seen helping in the project. Many long hours of work and planning go into functions that are attended and sponsored by our capable group of Social Marshals.

Telephone Committee

An annual project of the Student Congress is the publication of the student-faculty telephone directory. The directory contains the name, address, homeroom number, class, and telephone number of every student and teacher in our high school. Many long hours of work and planning go into the making of our directory. Besides finding the required information for each person, the committee members spend quite a few afternoons proof-reading their material before they send it to press. Their publication is a necessity to almost everyone at New Hanover High School. The Chairman, James McIntosh, is responsible for seeing that all the information is correct; and Mrs. Estelle LeGwin guides the committee in their activities.

Seated: Mrs. LeGwin, James McIntosh, Jane Bond.

Handbook Committee

Published annually, the Orange and Black Handbook is an important guide to all students at New Hanover High School. This little book contains the rules and regulations of our school and the constitution adopted by our Student Body. It also includes descriptions of our school organizations and awards, names of Student Congress officers, and stanzas of some of the "Wildcat" songs and cheers.

The Chairman, Marie Fales, and her committee work hard to have the book completed by the first day of school because it is a vital source of information about any matter concerning our school. On Orientation Day the Orange and Black Handbook is distributed to sophomores, who find them especially important throughout their first year. Although upper classmen are familiar with most of the school rules, they often find it necessary to refer to their handbook.

Seated: Margaret Atkinson, Marie Fales, Linda Dortch.

Standing: Barbara Jones, Nancy Herring, Gene Tickner, Harry Mustard, Linda Kelly, Ann Bergen, Betty Black, George Mann, Ann Metts.

Being tapped into the National Honor Society is one of the highest honors offered to students of New Hanover High School. Only students with the finest quality of character, scholarship, leadership, and service are eligible for membership, since the number of members inducted each year cannot exceed three percent of the class as juniors plus an additional six percent when this class become seniors. Another reward for these students' efforts is receiving diplomas bearing the Torchlight seal. New members are inducted in assemblies in the fall for seniors and in the following spring for juniors. Participants of the induction ceremonies are just as excited as those students hoping to be tapped, for the names of new members are kept secret until the last minute. Among other projects, the Honor Society sponsors Honor Day, the Teachers' Tea, the Honor Roll Tea, and the annual Talent Show. The club also keeps a scholarship fund to help worthy students further their education.

The officers of the National Honor Society this year are Nancy Herring, Secretary; Cynthia Stokley, Treasurer; Barney Barnhill, President; and Hiram Jenkins, Vice-President.

Homeroom Chairmen

The march of events begins early for the homeroom chairmen, who are elected in the fall by the students of each homeroom. Selling Wildcats, taking orders for the Hanoverian, and collecting money for charities such as the Junior Red Cross Fund, the Thanksgiving Welfare Offering, and the Christmas collection for needy families are some of the duties that keep these students busy. They are also in charge of making arrangements for the morning devotionals held in the homerooms at the beginning of each day. Senior chairmen have the task of taking orders for calling cards to be used by future graduates, and they prove to be a great aid to their homeroom teachers. Homeroom chairmen complete their duties only at the end of the year, and their service is of great importance to fellow students. Indeed, our homeroom chairmen must be dependable classmates.

Dortch, Secretary; and June Williams, Treasurer, carry out this program well; it proves to be most enjoyable. At Christmas time, the members donate some of their work, such as woven baskets, clay models, and paintings, to the children's ward at a local hospital.

Audio-Visual Aids Club

Mr. Todd's Audio-Visual Aids Club members are a big help to nearly every phase of our educational program. They are largely responsible for showing classroom movies and providing entertainment in the auditorium on rainy days by operating the film projector.

The club officers, who are Tommy Cromartie,

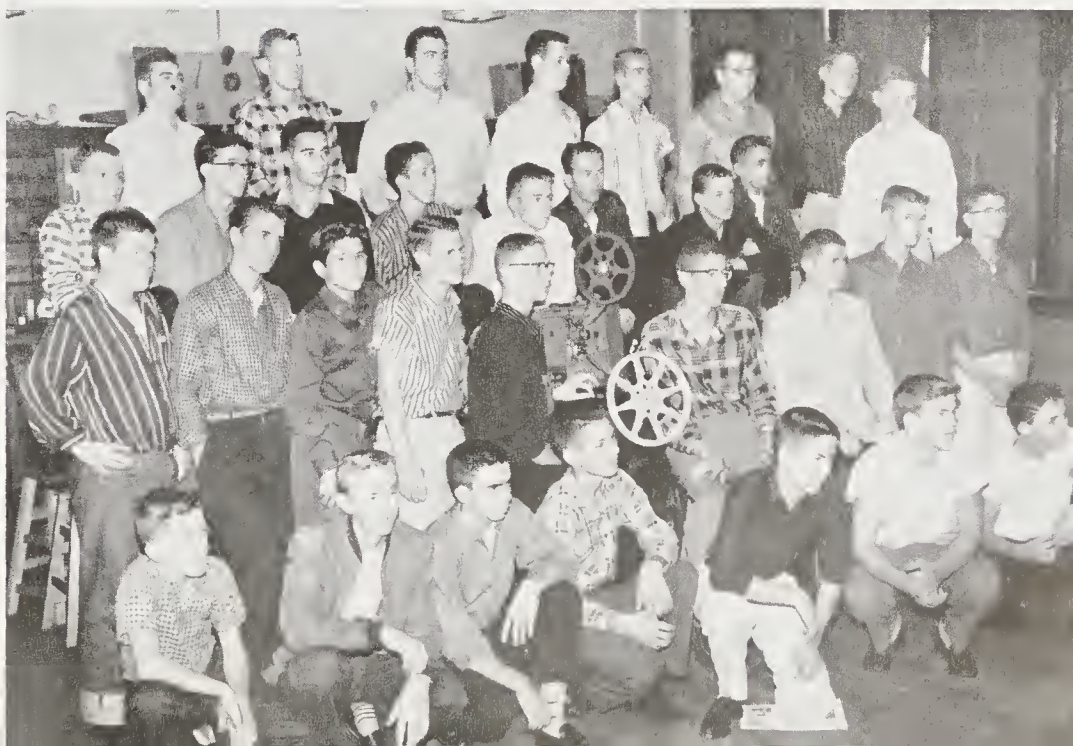

President; Flay Pridgen, Vice-President; Alan Morris, Secretary; Ted Brock, Treasurer; and Rodney Rivenbark, Custodian, assist Mr. Todd in training a corps of about fifty equipment operators. These students learn the operation and care of 16mm film projectors, archlight projectors, tape recorders, public address systems, spotlights, and floodlights.

Bible Club

Our Bible Club has for its motto "I can do all things through Christ, who strengtheneth me." Under the careful guidance of Miss Ruth Spence, the club sets an example of Christian living by sending gifts to Oxford Orphanage, visiting shut-ins, providing needy families with baskets of food and toys at Christmas, and sponsoring Early Morning Devotions, led by Judy Hill and Joe Rhodes. Betty Brown is President; Margie Cartin, Vice-President; and Mitsn Bartlett, Secretary-Treasurer.

Doing all through Christ

Spanish Club

This year finds the Spanish Club "senors" and "senoritas" enjoying programs about the language, literature, and customs of their Spanish-speaking neighbors. One of the gayest events of the year for these Spanish students is their Spanish Fiesta; at this party the traditional pinata is broken. Bill Edwards, President; Nancy Minton, Vice-President; and Nancy Stovall, Secretary-Treasurer, plan the interesting programs with the club's advisor, Mrs. Virginia Maynard.

La Societe Francaise

Members of La Societe Francaise familiarize themselves with aspects of the language, life, and literature of the French people by attending the interesting "French-flavoured" meetings once each month. Lynn Bixler, President, leads the group in enjoyable discussions; and Margaret Dixon, Vice-President, prepares some amusing and explanatory programs. Elizabeth Newkirk is the club's efficient Secretary, and Miss Jeanne Grana serves as the capable advisor for the French Club.

Thespians

In this age of television and movies, the Thespian Club is one of the largest and most active clubs in our school. Under the direction of Mr. Douglas Swink, the members work hard all of the year learning the fundamentals of dramatic production as well as those of acting. Although the work is hard and often tiring, putting together a successful play is fun. Make-up room backstage, beautifully shaped props, and widespread publicity go into the making of a major production. Then as the curtain is closed on the audience's enthusiastic applause, the masters of the play, the make-up artists, scenery painters, and ticket salesmen give a happy sigh as the Thespians have once again put on a successful play. The Thespian Club is truly an organization where talent is born and success is created. Its officers are Judy Floyd, President; Angela Johnson, Vice-President; Linda Kelly, Recording Secretary; and Mary Marshall, Corresponding Secretary; and Nancy Conelly, Treasurer.

Future Teachers of America

The Future Teachers of America Club, counseled by Mrs. Ruth Warren, is an organization for students who desire to become teachers. The aim of the FTA is to be taught and then to teach. Serving as guides during the Teachers' Convention and attending the State FTA Convention are two of the many highlights of this year's organizational program. FTA is led by Lynn Taylor, President; Donna Hinnant, First Vice-President; Margaret Nadal, Second Vice-President; and Bessie Zezeffilis, Secretary.

HANOVER

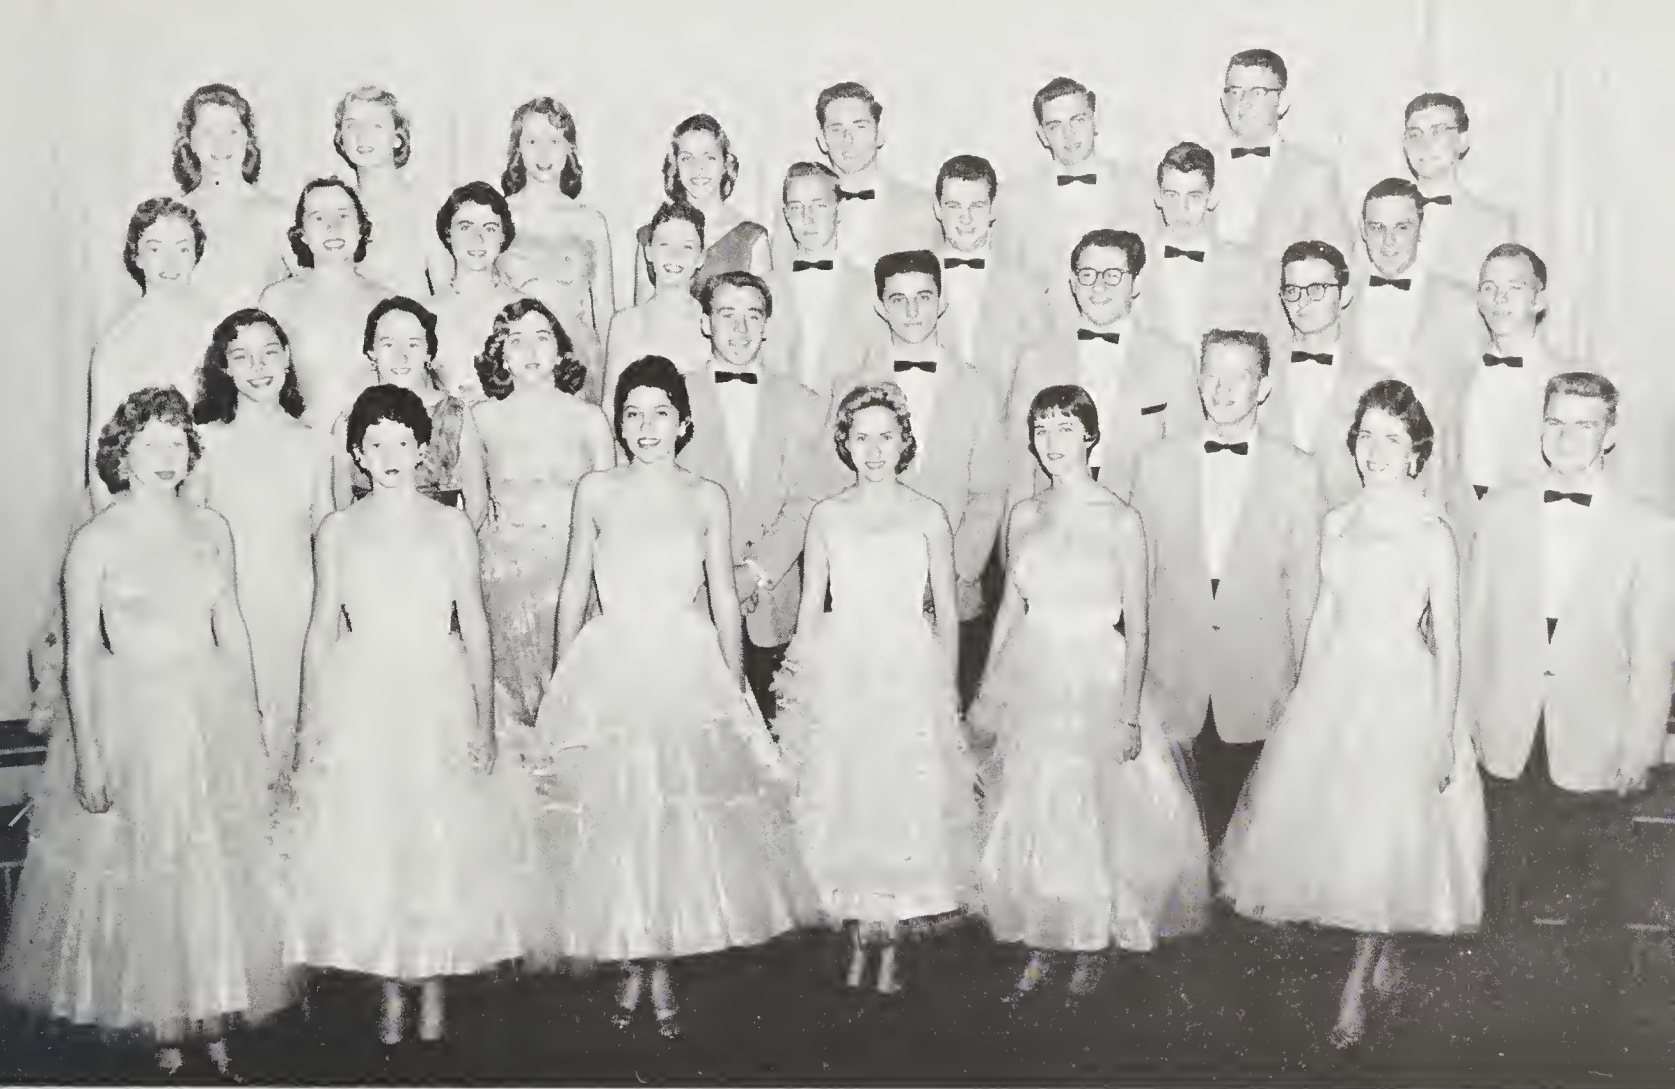

Singing for their own joy

A familiar sight each morning is our capable director, Mr. Loyd Hudson, and the Hanover Singers as they practice for future performances.

The major performing group of the New Hanover High School Vocal Department is the Hanover Singers. The membership is limited to sixty persons, and these are chosen through competitive tryouts of students previously in the Mixed Chorus or Girls' Glee Club. The members of the Hanover Singers work hard, and this is evident when the group performs.

The Hanover Singers perform for many of the civic clubs here in Wilmington, and each spring they present an operetta. This year they selected "Carousel" by Rodgers and Hammerstein. Days and nights of hard work go into the production of an operetta, but the members of the cast are sufficiently

In addition to the regular school activities, the Hanover Singers are often seen on WMFD-TV and heard over the radio. The officers of the Hanover Singers are as follows: Jane Bond, Secretary; Tommy Teague, Student Director; Jo Ellen Grubbs and Beth Troy, Accompanists. These people work closely with Mr. Hudson, the director, in building a fine vocal group. New Hanover High School will long remember the work of Mr. Hudson and his superior group.

Presenting many laudable programs

Mixed Chorus

The Girls' Glee Club is a training class for girls who plan to join Mixed Chorus later or who simply like group singing. The Glee Club participates in the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter programs given each year; and interested members who try-out may take part in the operetta.

The Mixed Chorus is made up of students who are chosen by Mr. Lloyd Hudson, the director of New Hanover High School's music department. This group is a very important part of the Music Department, for from this group members of the Hanover Singers are chosen. Just before Christmas try-outs are held for the operetta, and members of the group participate in the speaking parts as well as the all-important Chorus for the production. The day before the Thanksgiving holidays, the Mixed Chorus presents to the student body a program of traditional music. At Christmas they join with the entire Vocal Music Department in bringing a delightful performance of Christmas music. The group often goes to the junior high schools and the grade schools to give concerts, and on Commencement Day they present a program which the Senior Class will remember long after they have graduated.

The officers of the New Hanover High School Band for 1957-1958 are as follows:

Seated: Otis Strother, Drum Major; Pat Saunders, Librarian; John Hall, Band Manager; Sabra Brew, Personnel Officer; and Harlene Vance, Head Majorette.

Standing: Leah Rose Williams, Publicity Officer and Historian; Tommy Landen, Property Officer; and Millard Dunn, Student Director.

Jane Jordan, Rupert Bryan, Tommy Cromartie, Jo Ann Davis, Alan Hale, Linda Dortch, and James Hodges are assembling Christmas boxes to send to needy children. This is an annual project sponsored by the Student Government.

Becky O'Shields, Sandra Cross, Bill Smith, and Judy Goodman are diligently trying to sell a New Hanover High sweatshirt to student Bill Smith in the school store, sponsored by the Student Government.

Bill Robertson, Syvaughn White, and Tookie Bethune decorate the school Christmas tree. This event is an annual project of the Social Marshals.

At the first PSTA meeting of the year, Social Marshal Charlie Baggett gives a card to a member of our high school Parent-Student-Teacher Association.

Trade and Industrial Arts members Louis Walker, Jimmy Williams, and Dawson Smith arrange the manger scene that appears on the front lawn of our school for the Christmas season.

The clubs of New Hanover High School meet during homeroom period or after school, and membership in these organizations is voluntary. These groups are organized for pleasure as well as for learning.

Our Student Government clubs—the Senate, House of Representatives, Judges, Judicial Marshals, Social Marshals, Homeroom Chairmen, and the various small committees — work hard to forward Student Congress activities.

Gifted artists, writers, machine operators, actors, salesmen, and singers can all find a club that will interest them. There are also clubs for students who are interested in reading, debating, and worshipping. Club activities play an important part in our school; all students are encouraged to participate.

The cadets silhouetted on this lonely stretch of beach have learned the importance of defending the coast and the rest of their country against all aggressors. The three years of basic military training which they have completed have also instilled into them leadership and respect for authority.

They, like the other cadets of the battalion, have contributed to the success of the R.O.T.C. program at New Hanover High School by doing their utmost to keep the only junior unit in the Carolinas an honor battalion. For twenty-one years, ever since its organization in 1937, the unit has been classified thus, and it is with pride and a sense of accomplishment that the cadets wear their red star on their uniform.

Besides seven hours per week of general military instruction, the cadets engage in many other activities. The Rifle Team participates in matches against other teams from all over the country. Every year, homecoming activities are highlighted by the presentation of the sponsors, and the R.O.T.C. Ball is one of the year's social highlights, when cadet officers are presented. Beach parties are often held by individual companies, and these are eagerly awaited by the cadets.

The next section is devoted to the cadets and instructors who comprise New Hanover High School's military unit, the ROTC.

Color Guard

The appearance, dignity, and bearing of the Color Guard reflect the spirit of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps. Proper honor and respect to the National Flag and to the ROTC organization and the appropriate custody and display of these emblems at parades and ceremonies are the missions of the Color Guard. Marching always before the companies, our ROTC Color Guard reminds each cadet that he is an important part of a large system. Members of the Color Guard are M/Sgt. James Wenberg, M/Sgt. Richard G. O'Rourke, M/Sgt. Charles Johnson, and M/Sgt. Ethner Mallard.

Every ROTC Officer has the privilege of becoming a member of the Officers' Club, which meets each Wednesday to organize various activities for the pleasure and benefit of the companies. One of the Officers' most outstanding projects is planning the ROTC Ball. This group of cadets also helps Major Jones in giving information to the large battalion. The main purpose of the Officers' Club is to promote fellowship, school spirit, and patriotism to our country. The officers should exhibit habits of precision, orderliness, courtesy, correctness of posture, department leadership, respect, and loyalty to military authority to set the example for the other cadets. They are supervised by the Professor of Military Science and Tactics, Major Paul J. Jones, who attends regularly the meetings.

Excelling in leadership and service

Forming the backbone of the corps are the Non-Commissioned Officers; this group includes Sergeants First Class, Second Class, and all Master Sergeants. These student officers teach beginning cadets the fundamentals of ROTC. To be Non-Commissioned Officers, cadets must show the willingness to serve and the outstanding traits that enable them to lead. The Non-Commissioned Officers Club is organized to create fellowship and learning among cadets. Among other duties, four of the most outstanding Non-Commissioned Officers have the honor of serving on the battalion as members of the Color Guard.

Drilling for precision order

Each Monday and Friday, weather permitting, the ROTC cadets assemble at the ROTC building for regular formation. Clothed in smart, well-pressed uniforms and shiny black shoes, each cadet receives his rifle and answers the roll call. Then everyone takes his position in the company formation as the group prepares to leave for the parade grounds.

Distinguished by their white helmets and gloves, these ROTC cadets have earned the honor of being members of the Cape Fear Rifles. When this group performs at the ROTC Ball or the Sponsor Presentation, it is evident that the cadets have had many hours of diligent practice. Cape Fear Rifles is indeed a precision drill team. Their precision and skill are most evident when they perform for such occasions as the Azalea Festival Parade and the Azalea Ball. Their chief aim is to make the Cape Fear Rifles one of the best and most outstanding teams of our school.

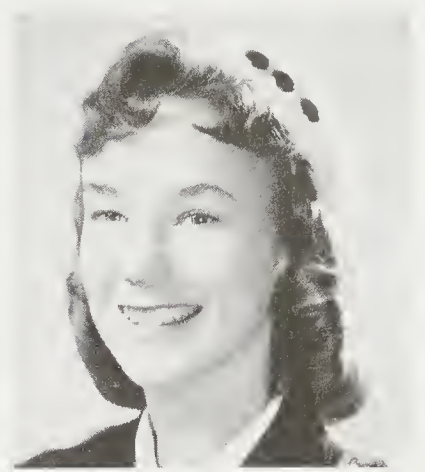

Hours of practice produce the precision of the Cape Fear Rifles. Drilling with their rifles are Pfc. Bob Fergus and Sfc. Gary Willets.

That last football game on the beach before winter sets in—how one loves to remember it! Soon, however, football on the beach gives way to football in Legion Stadium, and excited crowds cheer the Wildcats to victory.

The members of the swimming team spend many afternoons at the YMCA perfecting the skills that they have learned during the long summer days at the beach.

Basketball season approaches, and the boys practice diligently. Because the students are proud of the team, they support it by regular attendance at the games and join with the cheerleaders in resounding yells.

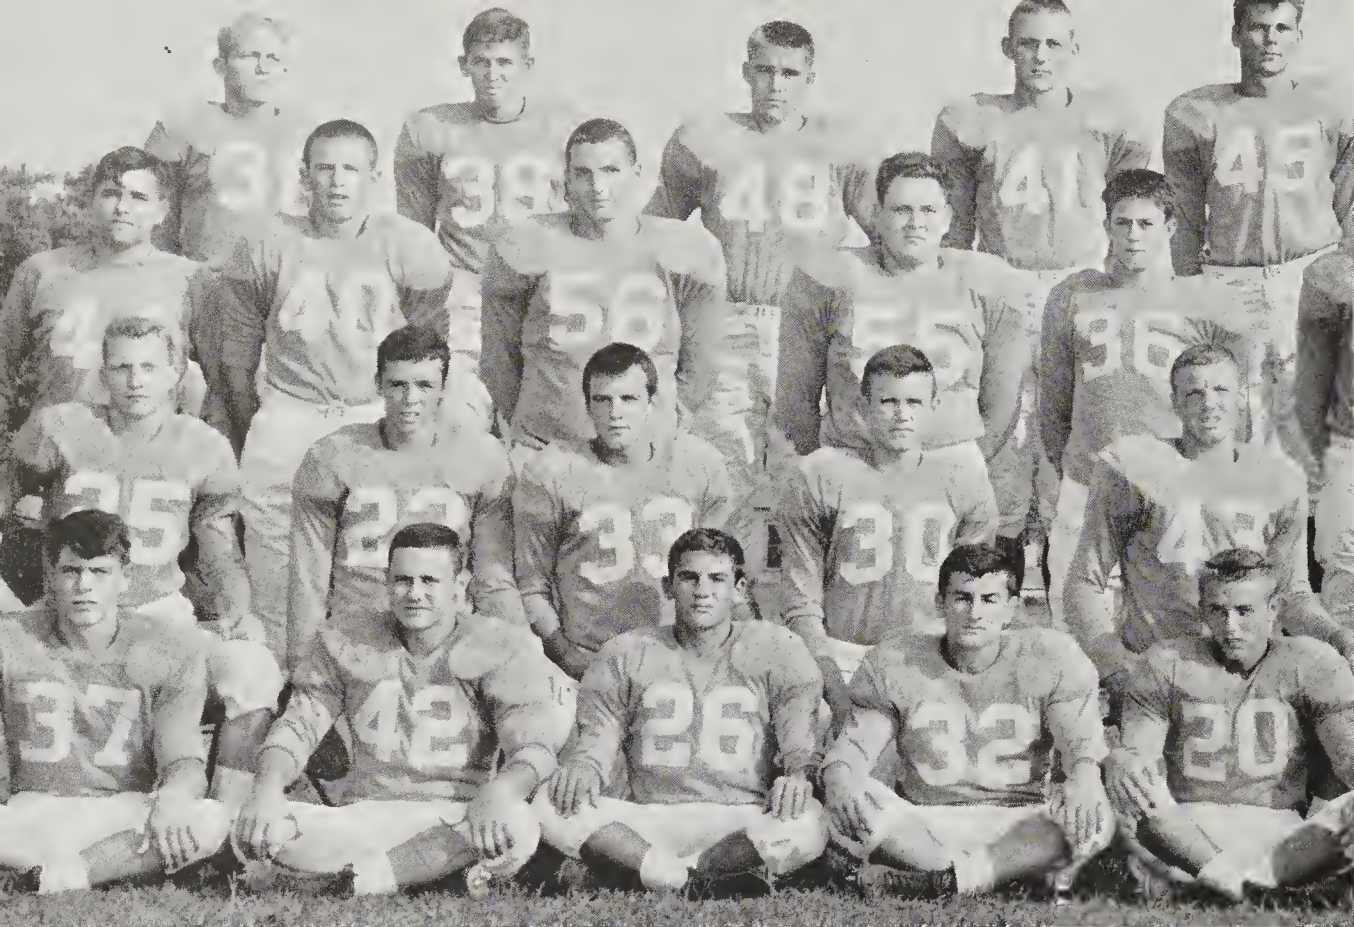

The students who lead the cheers are proud of this honor and do a great deal to uphold high standards of sportsmanship in the school. Besides cheerleading, girls have an opportunity to participate in various sports through regular gym classes and the Girls' Athletic Association.

The days become warmer; and the time for that great American pastime, baseball, is here. Baseball, tennis, and golf games end sports at school; and again it is time for that football game on the beach—which is the one that is most enjoyed, after all.

Looking behind the scenes

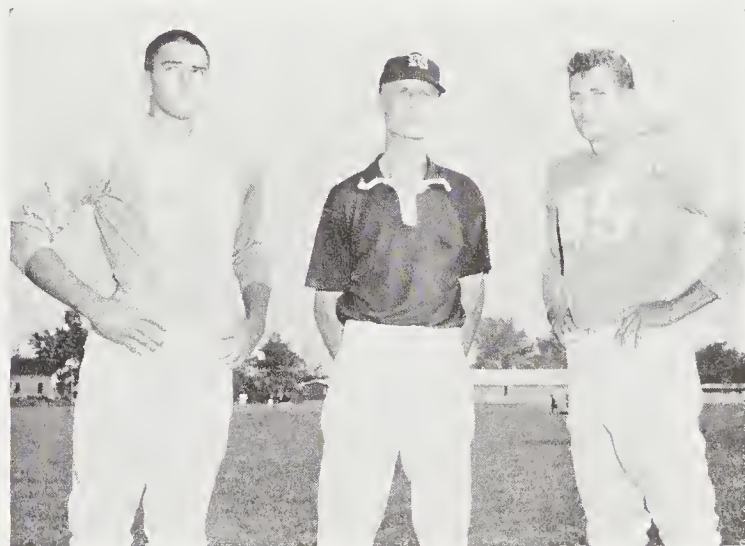

Head Coach Leon Brogden, with his very capable coaching staff, has for another consecutive year shouldered the responsibilities of developing a football team. The records of his teams stand as a proud tribute to Coach Brogden's skill and ability in the field of sports.

The head-coach's main assistant is the friendly figure of Jap Davis. Filled with a desire to win ballgames, Coach Davis works hard with the teams and manages to remove a large part of the strain with his quick humor and deep understanding.

Developing the future Wildcats is the task of Coach Buck Hardee. His work with the JV's has been the subject of much favorable comment, while his amiable nature has made him numerous friends on and off the gridiron.

Coach Calvin Lane works diligently with the JV's each year to get them ready for the varsity squad. The games they play are for the purpose of getting actual experience on the field. It is a responsible job and Coach Lane handles it in an excellent manner. Now he is an important part of the NHHS Coaching Staff.

These four men have combined their skills and put all their efforts into the process of molding the raw material which NHHS has to offer. From this molding process have come the varied teams of NHHS whose number of outstanding players and whose very records are a direct proof of the superb coaching staff behind them.

Showing the results of hard work in gridiron action

With the sound of the kickoff, the Wilmington Wildcats started their 1958 football season against Harding High School of Charlotte. Though the inexperienced team copped the game, some gleam of the future was seen in that both of Wilmington's touchdowns were the result of passes by Gabriel. Later, things started picking up as the 'Cats clipped Salisbury's Yellow Jackets 26-20 in Legion Stadium. With creditable work turned in by Hales, Slack, Bullard, Knox, and reserve-back Theodore, the NHHS team piled up a score of 27-6 against Rocky Mount and took their first AAA conference game.

Traveling to Raleigh for the second AAA contest, the team lost to the Capitols for the first time since 1947. Held to a standstill in the first half, the 'Cats came to life in a last half explosion that was just 34 minutes too late to save the game. Bouncing back with a terrific new weapon, the downfield lateral pass, the Wildcats rolled over Hargrave Military Academy 26-0, though they were outweighed by twenty-one pounds to the man.

With a mechanical precision the Wilmington team started winning ball games. Taking Goldsboro 26-14, the 'Cats ended a hard fought game—

One of those rare occasions when nobody knows where the ball is.

the outcome of which was never certain until after Bullard pulled in an Earthquake pass and thundered 45 yards for the clinching touchdown.

Avenging a setback last year that left the Wildcats out of the AAA conference championship, the NHHS club ground out a 21-20 victory over Wilson—in spite of a flu-weakened team. The educated kicking toe of tackle Bob Roycroft amounted to the difference in the scores. The meat of the score was contributed by Gabe's arm. He completed eleven out of nineteen tries for a total of 110 yards gained. Stuck in their own backyard for the first two periods, the Wildcats still showed signs of the flu-bug as Durham invaded Legion Stadium. Coming out with a fourth period rally that gave Wilmington three points on a field-goal by Roycroft and six points on a run by quarterback Gabriel, the 'Cats scooped the game 9-0 to tie up the first place spot in AAA conference with Fayetteville for the second year in succession.

Repeating the script of last year, the 'Cats tied Fayetteville 7-7 in a suspense-packed Homecoming game marred only by a deluge of rain at the half. The all-important tally for Wilmington was a twenty-four yard drive by Hollis Hales good for six points. The conversion was made by Roycroft behind the excellent defense of Slack, Williams, and Ward. The stalemate required a playoff which was held on neutral Goldsboro territory the following Friday. With penalties taking a heavy toll, the 'Cats fell to Fayetteville in a heart-breaking 13-7 loss. Playing "heads up" ball, the team posed a constant threat right up until the last seconds of the game. Trotting from the field, the team in second place in the Eastern AAA Conference finished another season.

Revealing our strength

Along with the rest of the team, these men turned in a fine season against all opponents for NHHS. Football with definite emphasis on good sportsmanship was the standing order of the team; and they carried out this policy without a single flaw. In the roughness of the sport, it is difficult sometimes to control the tempers of the contenders, but it was managed with admirable grace. A great year from a great team—the students of NHHS salute their Wildcats.

Every year the graduation exercises mark the loss of many of the varsity regulars, and the coaches must start all over. This year, however, the JV team boasts a lot of strong members with which to rebuild the varsity ranks. A lot of big boys who play for the love of the sport will be one grade higher and will be playing ball on the varsity squad. These boys, with this spirit, will win ball games and judging from their record this year seem capable of carrying on the high standards of NHHS.

Striving for perfection

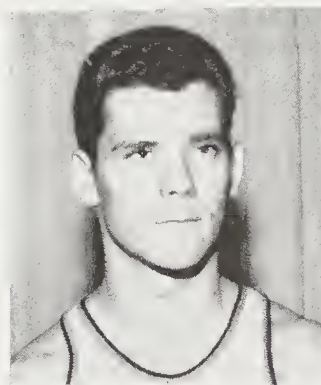

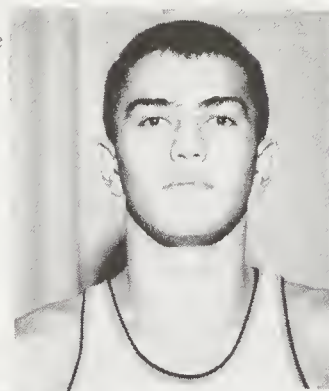

With the arrival of cold weather, the NHHS cagemen don their colorful gear and begin to pound the hardwood. Once again the highly polished court will reflect the shadowy figures of tall, lean hoopsters. The gym will ring with the wild shouts of students and cheerleaders, as the varsity five splits the net for a goal.

The feel of the gym, the scream of the ball as it slams into the backboard, the swish of the rippling net, these are the characteristics of the season — the spirit of the game.

Every successful shot, each functioning play is backed up by hours of hard drill and long skull sessions. The skull sessions are the least enjoyed of the two, but they are essential to the game. At these times, the strategy of future games is discussed.

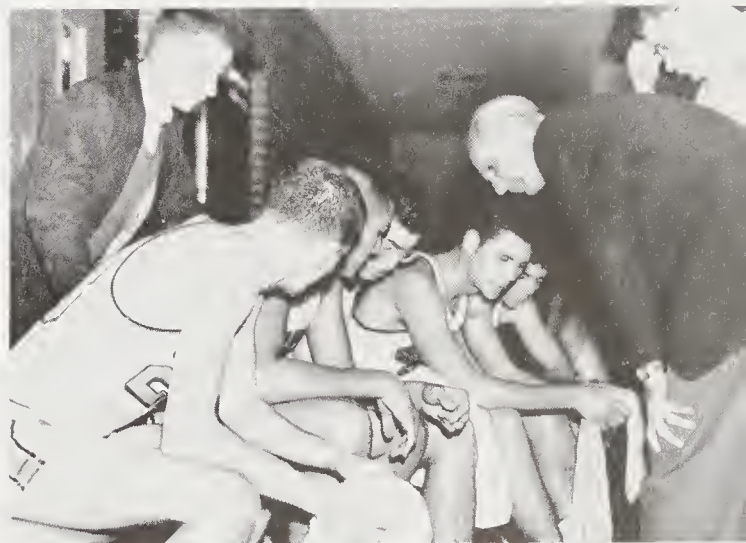

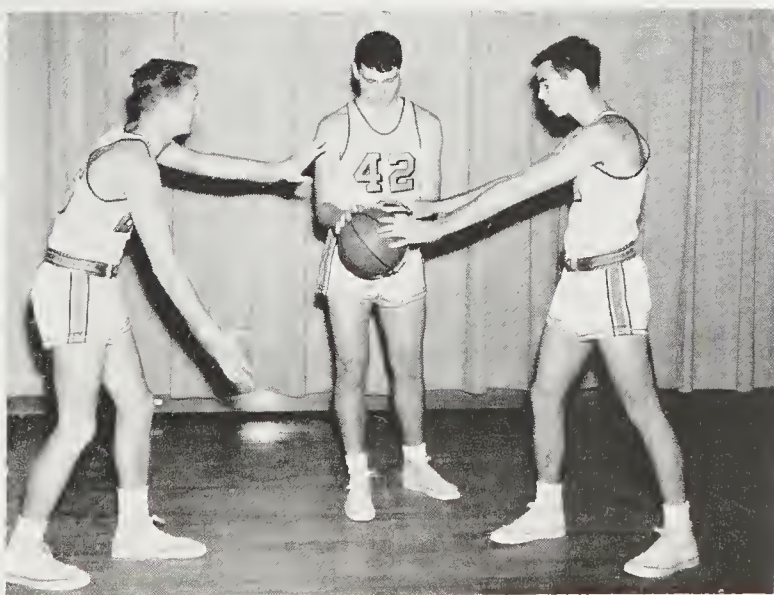

Our boys take the court with pride. They handle the ball with confidence, for they have worked hard under the best of coaching. The Wildcats are ready to start a new season for New Hanover High.

Capturing the coveted rebounds

When the beginning of basketball season rolled around at NHHS, an inquiring reporter for the Wildcat made it a point to ask the players for their opinions of the team. Among the replies the phrase "We have a good team" was often heard. Soon the records verified that as the 'Cats kicked the lid off the 1957-58 season with a 78-42 conquest over Camden's Bulldogs.

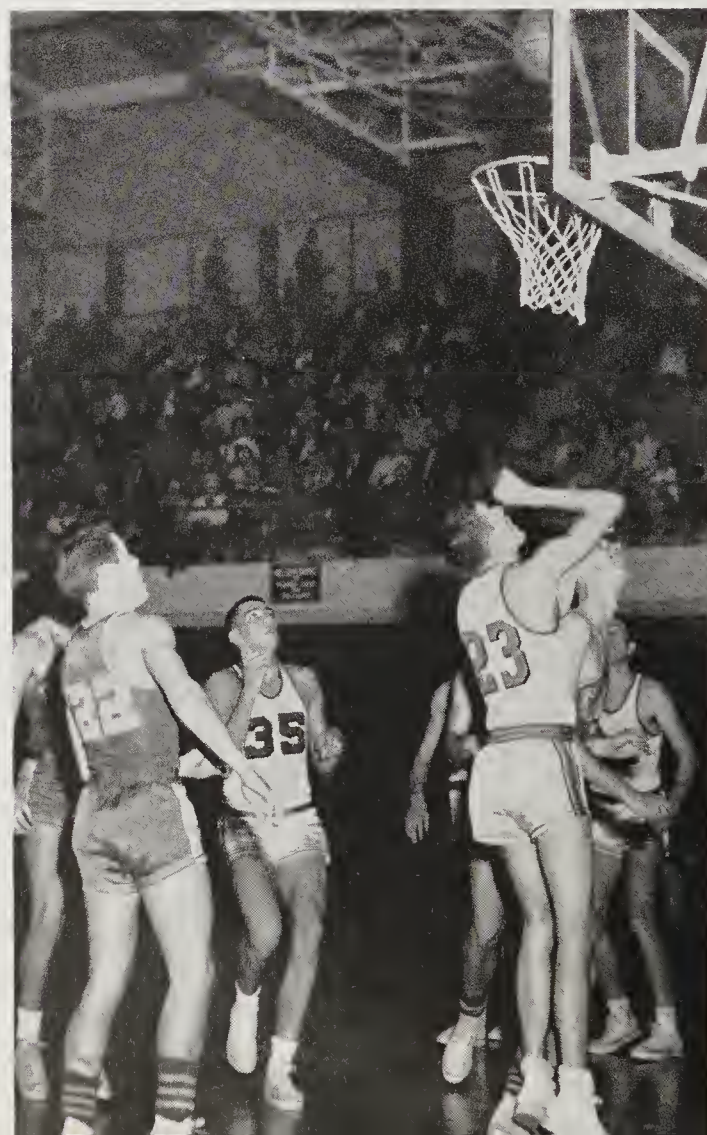

With a dazzling display of might, the Wildcats dumped Charleston 80-49 to take the "unofficial" title and to strike fear into the hearts of all adversaries. Then our team traveled to Greenville where they humbled the Phantoms 72-48, before a huge crowd in Greenville's new gym.

On their fourth starting assignment, the Wilmington cagemen dropped their first game in an over-time duel with High Point. Picking up after their initial loss to the Bisons, the NHHS five did a fine job of tearing Central High School of Charlotte apart in a complete run-away. With a piled up score of 65-43, the 'Cats again were in business. Behind the scoring ability of Larry Edens and Roman Gabriel, the Wilmington crew defeated Asheville 60-49.

Settling down to great, steady ball-playing, the Wilmington cagemen tallied high score against Wilson 86-50, the tough Raleigh Caps 66-59 and the Durham Bulldogs 40-37. These wins started a streak that engulfed Goldsboro by a score of 69-43, Rocky Mount with 56-37; Fayetteville, and Wilson—the game which was to finish that winning streak when NHHS won 56-41.

A tie-breaking basket by Raleigh in the last two seconds of the game gave the Wildcats their first loop loss of 56-54.

Gabriel, White, and other players crowd the basket waiting to capture the rebound, which constitutes an important and essential element of the game.

Things are really looking up in this game.

This is the way it had to be done.

Reaching up for a basket

Gabriel and Evans were still neck and neck in the Eastern Conference individual scoring race as the 'Cats traveled to Durham for that crucial AAA game. Regaining first place, the NHHS quintet toppled Durham 56-52 with a tremendous shooting exhibition by Ronnie White of Wilmington.

Despite the excellent work of Jackie Bullard and Bill Slack, the Earthquakes of Goldsboro shook the home team by a bare 43-41 upset. With a total of three losses under their belts a cautious Wilmington team faced the Fayetteville five for their last home game. All was right again as the NHHS cagemen ended the home season with a 59-37 win over the Fayetteville Bulldogs. Meeting Rocky Mount's Blackbirds at Rocky Mount, the home club lost their fourth one to a determined Bird set 53-67.

A GOOD RULE TO FOLLOW: never bet against the Wildcats in tournaments. This statement was blazed across the headlines of a Greensboro sports article covering the '58 tourney.

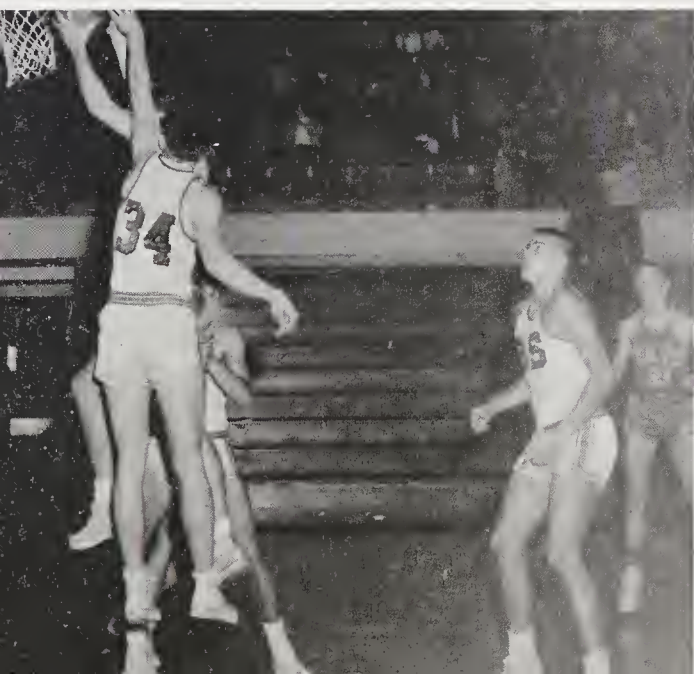

In defending the AAA Crown the 'Cats went against Burlington's five, who ranked 4th in the standings. Typical of their last four starts the Wilmington boys were cold at first hitting only one basket in nine attempts during the first period. They recovered in fine form however to take the game 52-39 on a hot session at the free throw line.

On their second outing, the NHHS squad clashed with Greensboro in the Senior High Gym. Although the Whirlies had the best regular season record, 17-3, in AAA circles and posed a real obstacle, the Coastal quintet racked up 13 field goals for 35 attempts compared to 17 for 31 at the free line. The varsity five went the distance to give us a triumph of 43-42 over Coach Jamieson's boys.

Poise, coolness and determination to win were some of the characteristics of Brogden's cage machine as they took the floor against the Durham team. Feeling much at home on Greensboro's court, the 'Cats ambled confidently on the hardwood.

Slack reaches to block Cap's attempt at goal.

"The man with the golden arm" gives the tip-off to the Cats to start the game.

Lights flash and two more points are tallied for the NHHS Wildcats.

Wilmington's towering strength makes the difference.

From the very first, they started playing rip-roaring, heads-up ball. For the second time this season White ran wild against the Durham Bulldogs hitting on ten of fifteen field goal attempts and eight out of eight chances at the free throw line for a 28 point total. Thus, he paced the Brogdenmen's win to be the game's high scorer. Second high scorer was Jackie Bullard who had six out of sixteen from the floor and one out of three from the free line for a total of 13 points.

Waiting for the tip-off

Cats and Caps mix it up under the backboards.

Gabriel racked seven points but his nine rebounds were more important. Bill Slack hit for five points and pulled seven rebounds, while Larry Edens tallied ten big points.

Overall in this thrill packed finale, the Wildcats hit on 24 out of 53 field goals and 15 of 21 at the charity mark to take the contest 63-55. It was a great game with both teams having the glory of leading on different occasions. Tension ran high as the score was tied numerous times but both teams conducted themselves in a manner to be envied by all teams and coaches.

Wilmington landed Gabriel and Bullard on the all-tournament team with White getting a well-earned honorable mention. The Championship is Wilmington's fourth all total and third in a row. It was a night of honors of the Coastal five as our own Roman Gabriel was chosen as the tourney's most valuable player.

The student body of NHHS wants to congratulate the hard working coaches and the wonderful Wilmington cagemen who stand tall as the proud AAA Champions of the '58 season.

another jewel for the NHHS sports crown*

Jerry Wooten — capable catcher and hitter.

Bob Conner — artist at the plate and on the mound.

Displayed— the building blocks

Skillful playing coupled with good teamwork succeeded again in bringing to NHHS the State AAA Baseball Crown. From expert coaching and diligent practice came a superior team very deserving of the trophy it was presented.

Playing vigorously, the team moved through its schedule, and with the exception of the loss to Raleigh, crushed all opposition in the climb to the coveted throne of Eastern Conference Champions—a title which the team has held for the past four years.

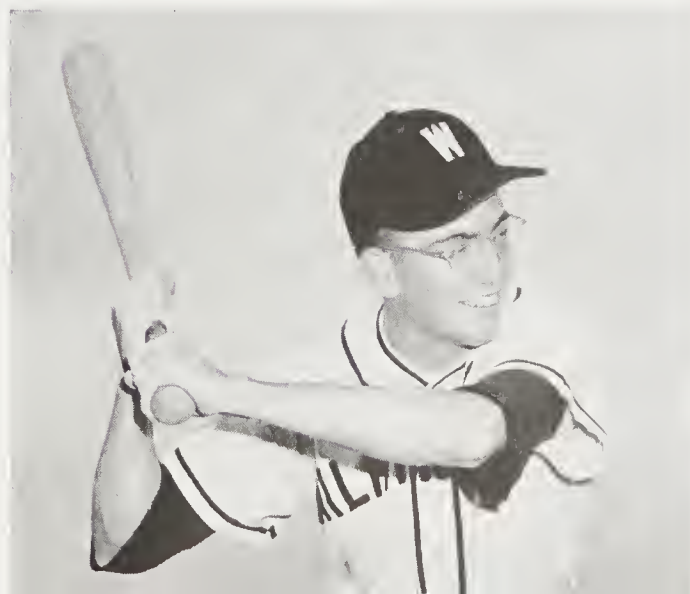

Roman Gabriel — flashy first-baseman.

Teaming up for success

Now in line for state champs, the boys put forth their best efforts in the play-offs with Greensboro. Battling furiously, they defeated the Western Conference Champions twice in a row, 5-4, to bring the State Baseball Crown to NHHS for the second consecutive year. This year's team should have an excellent chance of retaining the State Crown, since about half of the championship team will be returning.

Underlying the varsity are the Jayvees, whose talents and skills are being steadily developed for the day when they will replace their upper teammates. These boys play many games each spring with corresponding teams of surrounding schools. By this method they greatly increase their ability and thus secure a place on the varsity team.

The Jayvee team is comprised of sophomore boys who were outstanding in junior high competition. During this first year of high school ball, they learn to hit forcefully, pitch harder, and accurately, run faster, and think quicker. The importance of this training reveals itself in the superior ability of the varsity team. Fair play and good sportsmanship are stressed emphatically by the coaching staff. Equal emphasis is placed on the development of skill and character development.

This all-over coaching yields the product strived for—a superior team, the NHHS Wildcats.

First row: Jim Worthington, Gene Raines, Vernon Ward, Kenneth Lewis.

Second row: Ronald Benson, Guilford Porter, Jim Nelson, Wilt Leeuwenburg, Jimmy Mallard.

Third row: Leon Brogden, Jr., Roger Wilkie, Buddy Wierse, George Brown, Burt Chiemiego.

Radiant Varsity Sweetheart, Mary Lou Johnson.

Regarded with pleasure—our varsity sweetheart

Students enjoy the Football Finals Dance

One of the many coveted honors at NHHS is that of Varsity Sweetheart. This honor is bestowed upon a girl whom the football team chooses as their idea of the perfect sweetheart. She is presented at the Football Finals Dance.

At the dance this year, a tense crowd waited for the announcement of the lucky girl. The team proved the excellence of its taste when head cheerleader Keena McCall announced that they had chosen Miss Mary Lou Johnson.

After crowning her and presenting her a bouquet of red roses, Co-Captains Jackie Bullard and Roman Gabriel presented a very happy Mary Lou to the anxiously-waiting student body.

First row: Bonnie Sullivan, Julia Paschall, Barbara Lindner, Judy Cumber.

Cheering the Wildcats to victory

Energy unlimited characterized the cheerleaders this year as they heightened the excitement of NHHS students with rousing cheers. Small of stature yet loud of voice, head cheerleader Keena McCall set the pace for the group as they urged the student body to cheer the Wildcats to victory.

Under the supervision of their advisor, Miss June

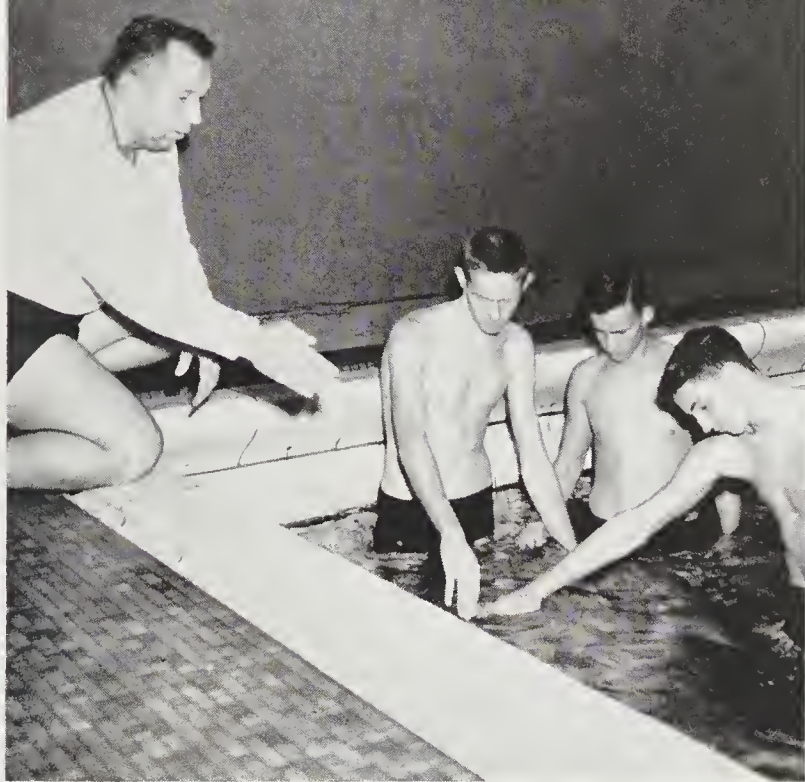

Thomas, the group conducted their annual sale of chrysanthemums for the Homecoming Game, shared a paid performance with the Honor Society, and handled the presentation of the Varsity Sweetheart at the Football Finals Dance. This annual affair, always sponsored by the cheerleaders, is given in honor of the football team.

Our team's escorts race across the field.

Brenda, Miss Thomas, and Keena discuss plans.

Coach Wooten offers some helpful hints.

Ted performs on the high board.

Surpassed by none in water competition

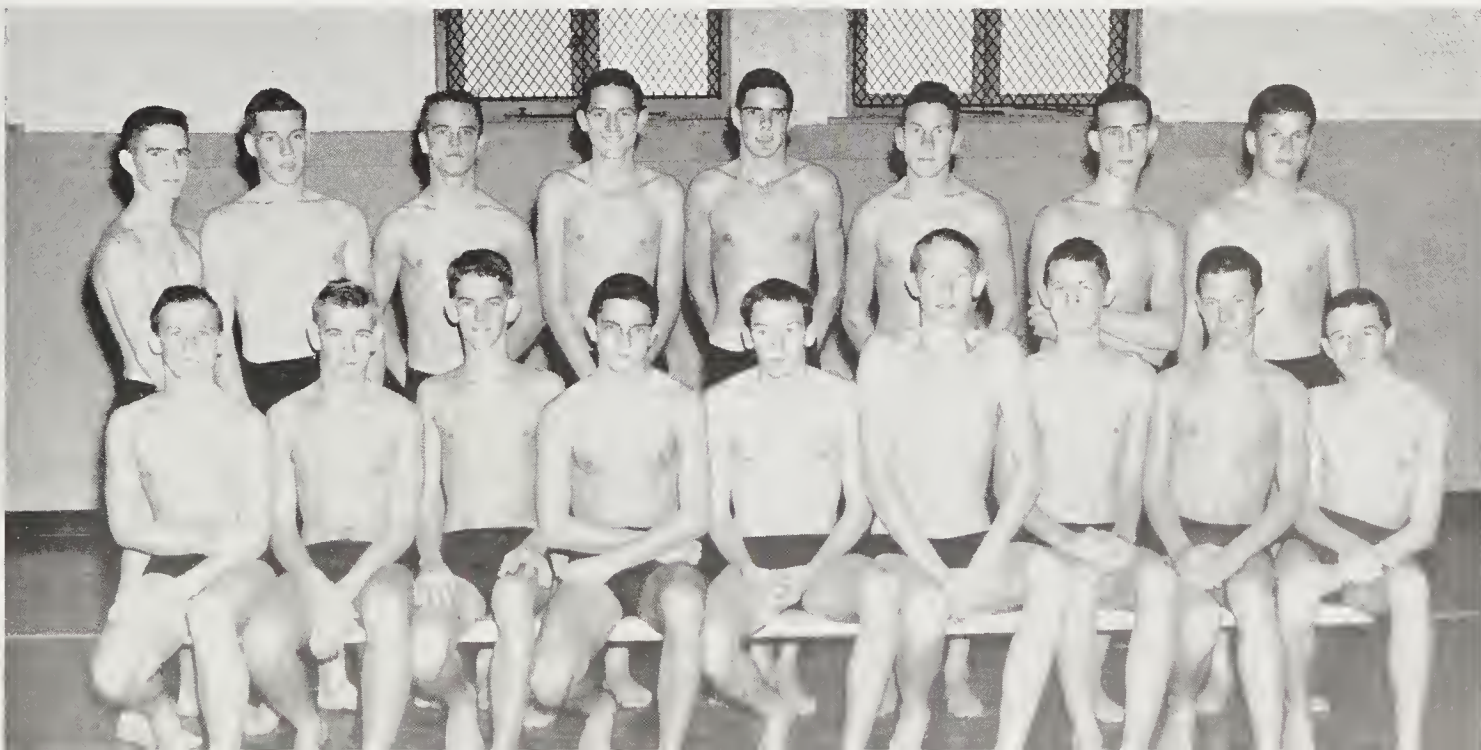

The swimming team of NHHS is composed of boys whose ability in the water surpasses that of the average person. With the help of Coach Ken Wooten, the various strokes are perfected and the boys who dive learn the value of precision timing. This knowledge, added to hours of practice, results in NHHS having one of the best teams in the state.

Among the many swimming meets in which the group will participate this year are the Invitational Meets at Greenville and Greensboro, and the Southern Interscholastic Meet and the State Championship Meet, both at Chapel Hill. Co-Captains for the swimming team this year are Pete Wester and Monroe Hyatt. Business Manager is Norman Cone.

First row: Norman Cone, Jimmy Myers, Cecil Poole, Pete Wester, Gary Miller, Ted Brock, Randolph Edge, Grant Winner, Otis Barefoot.

Second row: Ed Hickmon, Joe Chenworth, Paul Best, Jimmy Furr, Tommy Hudgins, Wayne Lanier, Johnny Hobbs, Pierre Depland.

John Gemmell, Banks Guyton, Bill Hufham, Bobby Williams, Glenn Herring, Billy Cooper, Donnie Carmen.

Glenn tees off.

Fabled fairway friends

A favorite sport of many people, but played well by only a few, is golf. NHHS is very lucky to have many boys who play this game excellently. This factor is exhibited by last year's fine record of six wins, three losses, and one tie. Under the guiding hand of Coach Jap Davis, the team is looking forward to another successful season.

Banks lends a hand as John executes a beautiful putt.

Exhibiting outstanding progress, the Wildcat netmen continue to improve every year. They strive diligently to make each season more successful than the last. Aided by the skilled coaching of Jap Davis, this year's team has practiced faithfully and will strive to maintain a record equal to or better than that of the previous year.

The many hours of practice which the team puts in have produced good results in the matches played with tennis teams of numerous high schools throughout the state. The team plays a full schedule every spring.

The ability to move fast and think even faster is very essential in this game. Many hours are spent in perfecting court maneuvers in addition to learning new tricks and positions. Conventional stances are perfected, while the boys strive to achieve good coordination—a principal constituent of a good tennis player.

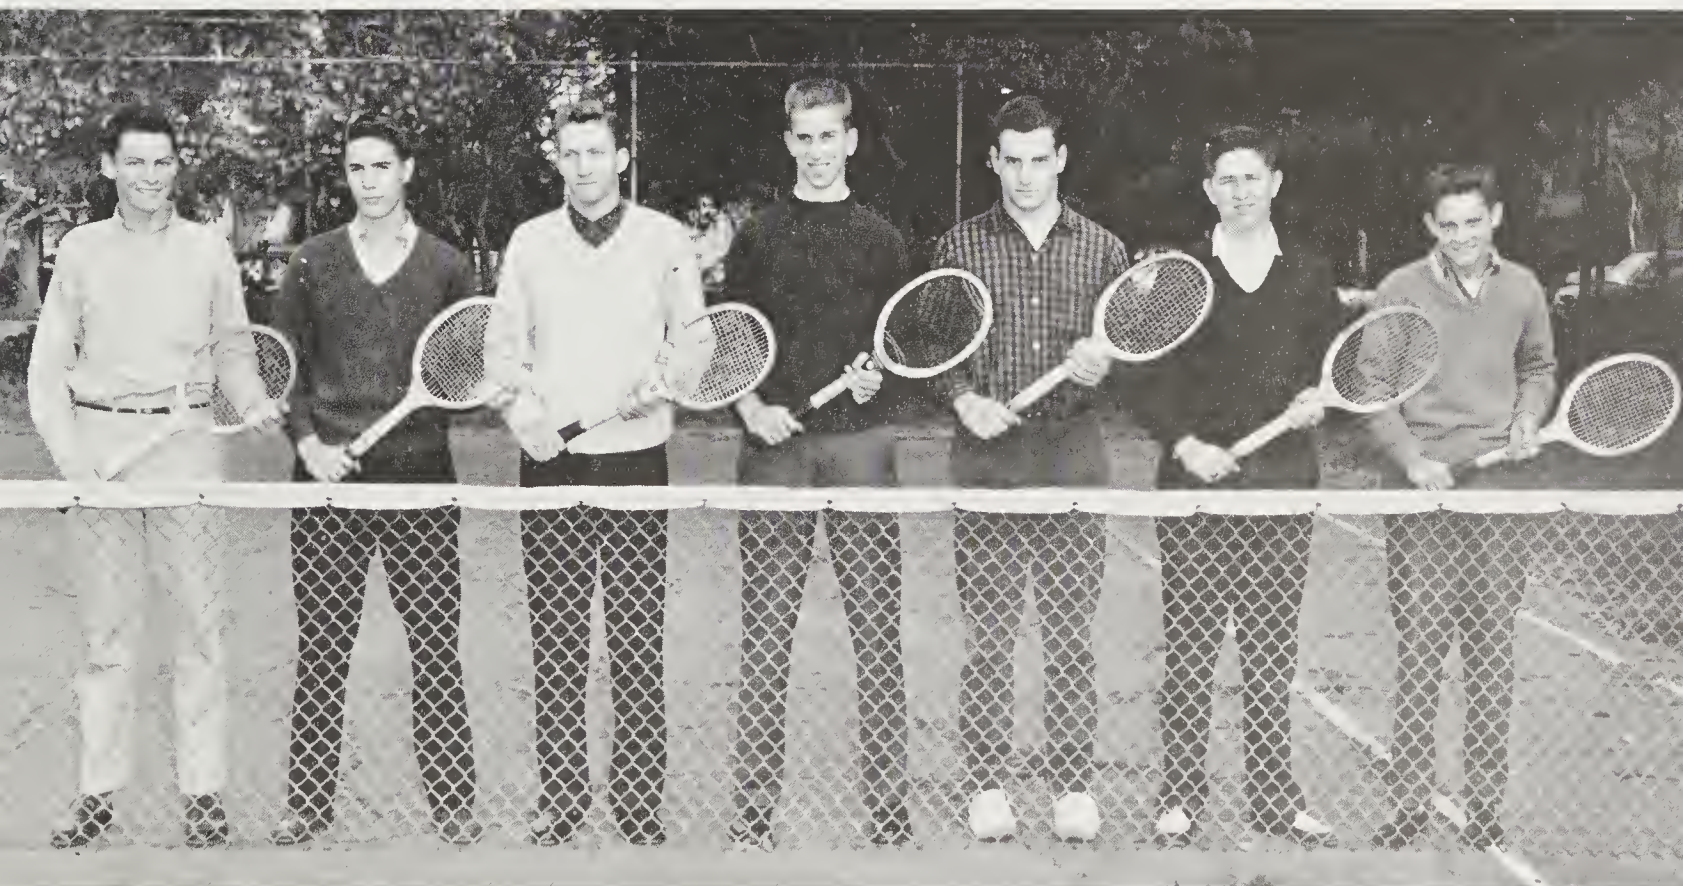

These raw materials combined with the desire of each player to win has produced for NHHS a successful tennis team.

Chad and Bob discuss strategy.

Jackson, B. Jones, J. Jones, Justice, Kelly, King, Lanier, Leneave, Lounsbury, Matthews, Merrit, Milliken, Mohr, Naylor, Nelson, Parnell, C. Peterson, H. Peterson, Platt, Prigeon, Pugh, Rackley, Robinson, Russell, Ryan, Smith, Teachey, Teague, Turner, Uffalussy, Wilson, Wood, Worthington, Reynolds.

Table tennis is a popular pastime.

Attaining character through sportsmanship

One of the most outstanding contributions of the Girl's Athletic Association is its participation in the Spring Music Festival. Select members of the group present intricate dances, which have required hours of practice and concentration.

This group of girls shows great enthusiasm for any activity pertaining to sports. They participate readily and become quite skilled in the process. Each girl is capable of playing several sports quite well. The group meets once a week to make plans for intramural tournaments, which provide wide enjoyment for the girls and other students, and to play simply for enjoyment. Sportsmanship is employed at all times and the development of good character is stressed. This group is under the capable direction of Mrs. Jean Tillett.

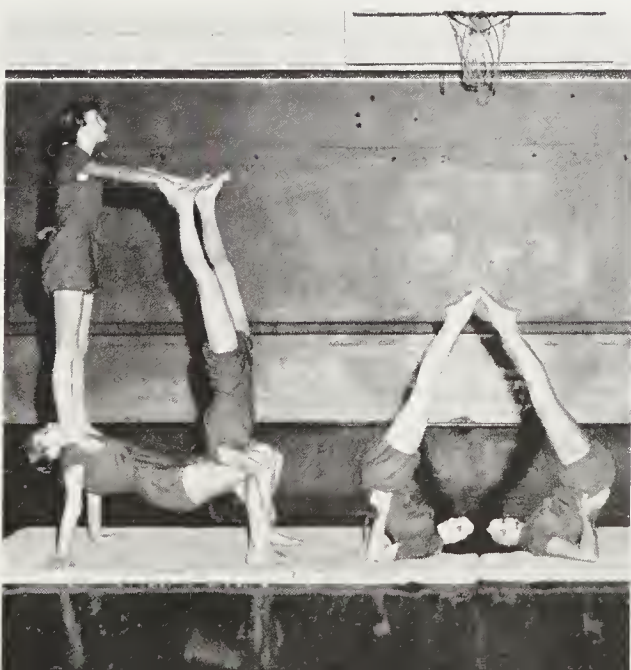

Basketball is good exercise.

These girls make up the tennis team.

Gymnastics requires teamwork.

Officers: Lounsbury, Peterson, Mohr, Jones, Teague, Edens.

Participating in various sports

Every year the Girls' Athletic Association strives to promote good sportsmanship and co-operation among the girls of NHHS.

Sports-minded girls are encouraged to join this organization in which they engage in activities such as volleyball, basketball, tumbling, table tennis, softball and tennis.

In the spring, some members of the group attended the State GAA Play-Day in which GAA members from all parts of the state participated.

One of the outstanding activities of the year is the intramural volleyball tournament. GAA members are divided into teams and from each team a captain is chosen. A regular game schedule is then followed to determine the winning team.

The intramural basketball tournament also ranks high in importance. It is conducted on the same order as the volleyball tournament.

One of the most useful arts of the GAA is the teaching of various dance steps to the girls.

Officers this year are as follows: President, Harriette Peterson; Vice-President, Linda Mohr; Secretary, Margie Cartin; Treasurer, Jean Lounsbury; Point Recorder, Betty Sue Edens; Devotional Chairman, Judy Teague; Reporter, Beverly Jones.

The party is almost over. The last embers fade away as the bon-fire dies. The last dripping swimsuit has chased the last laughing girl across the sandy beach, leaving deeply cut footprints behind to greet next year's party.

As the gang has one last meeting on the pier and the last goodbyes are said, everyone thinks of how soon the carefree students will be serious adults, each going separate ways. As the tide changes and the sands shift, so do the students and the teachers change and shift to yield to others who take the places left by those who have gone forever.

However, it seems that some things never change. Some things continue on in the same way year after year. These things are as constant as the wind, as dependable as the sun, and as steady as the moon. These things always improve with the passing of time and are the basic ingredients which help make a better school, a better city, a better state, and a better nation. The things of which we speak here are in reality the business firms which, through kindness, helpfulness, and cooperation, have helped to make this yearbook possible. A very sincere and heartfelt thanks is issued from the students, teachers, and administration of New Hanover High School to the sponsors of these

From the biddy of the past to the buddy of the future,

It's been loads of fun knowing you this year in
"Spiders." ... doesn't we have some fun? I wish, to a great you, a lot of luck to you in the coming years of your life.

Love always,

Hunny,
In the short time I've known you this year I can truthfully say it's been fun. We should really had a party in the Government 300 class, remember the chicken neck S.P.?
No kidding it's been real fun (sounds real bright doesn't it)
I wish you all the luck in the world for the future

Dear Mother Hen,

You've been a good friend and a "sympathetic" listener to me. I wish you the best of the "laying" mash in the future. Seriously - you're fine as wine!

Peace be with you,

Frank L. Tolson

Virginia,

I certainly have enjoyed knowing you this year. We have had a good time in Speech Arts class this year. Sorry for what happened Sunday afternoon. Good luck to you and Bobby always.

Love,
Martha

Well, I guess
it's been, thanks for the instruction

Gunny,

It has been great knowing you this year and being able to share all the fun with you in Journalism class. I'm glad you came to N.H.H.S. Thanks a million for all the times you took me home after school. You're a fine person and I'm glad to know you. Love & luck to you and Bobby. Hope to see you this summer. Love,
John

Gunny
It has been along time we have been in Science. It will only be one more day & we'll get out, but in those great days in science, we've had plenty of laughs. Best wishes & lots of luck in everything you do.
Be good.

Hear Hining,
 Well gal, here we are, the last day of school! I just can't believe it! I've enjoyed this year more than ever & I'm glad you came too. Don't ever forget Mrs. Symm's classes, homeroom and all the crazy mixed-up things that have happened... You're a fine and crazy girl and I sincerely wish you the best of luck and happiness in the future. I'm so glad your Bobby has got his sense back... you see "Absence makes the heart grow fonder" & "Time will tell" --- Be good! (if possible.)

A friend,

Liz
 Best of luck always to a very sweet girl
 Hope to see a lot of your in the future
 Keep on being a sweet girl and take good care of yourself Love
